Adlai Asserts Ike Not Master In Own House

Demo Nominee Declares Nixon Now Leads GOP

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 13 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson declared tonight Dwight D. Eisenhower is running the country under "a part-time presidency" and the leadership of the Republican party has passed to Vice President Nixon.

The Democratic presidential nominee, in an address prepared for a $50-a-plate dinner, declared in his sharpest criticism yet of his Republican rival.

"Every one shares in sympathy for the circumstances which have created a part-time presidency. But we cannot understand—and we will not accept—turning the government over to men who work full-time for the wrong people or a limited group of people. And the plain truth is that this situation would get worse, not better, in a continuation of this administration, because what influence the President has with his party in Congress has depended on his running again.

"From here on the future of Republican leaders will depend not on Eisenhower but the Republican vice-president, Mr. Nixon. And the vice president seems to sail downwind no matter which way the wind blows.

"Stern Facts"
"These are stern facts. To ignore them is perilous. They are the reasons America's human needs go today unmet. Nor will they be met so long as the President is not master in his own house."

Stevenson's campaign manager, James A. Finnegan, said 8,500 tickets were sold for the cafeteria-style buffet supper which preceded Stevenson's first major all-networks TV-radio address of the campaign, costing upwards of $200,000.

Using Finnegan's figures, the cold plate affair grossed $425,000 to be divided evenly between the national and Pennsylvania campaign.

Stevenson's advance text, made available a little more than three hours before his scheduled talk, estimated his direct audience at 10,000 Pennsylvanians "with the whole nation as our invited guests."

He joined the plea of President Eisenhower made yesterday at Gettysburg, in urging every American, regardless of party, to register—and to do so before it is too late.

He referred to the fact that "another political campaign was opened yesterday just 40 miles from here, before what the paper called 'a crowd of more than 500 of the Grand Old Party elite.'"

Stevenson said the dictionary defines elite as a group or body "considered or treated as socially superior."

He said that after generations of Republican rule it took the Democrats to "clean up Philadelphia" and after decades of GOP rule, Pennsylvania turned to George M. Leader and that they will elect Joseph S. Clark, former Philadelphia mayor, to replace Sen. James M. Duff (R) in the U.S. Senate.

"Fog Is Rising"

Clark was the first Democratic mayor of Philadelphia in 68 years. He was elected in 1951. What is happening in Pennsylvania, Stevenson said, is going on "in state after state."

Egypt Convinced Suez Plan Aimed To Provoke War

CAIRO, Sept. 13 (AP)—High Egyptian sources said tonight the government is convinced the projected international Suez Canal users' association is aimed to provoke war.

The government told the United States today in an urgent note that imposing the plan on Egypt means war.

Soon afterward, Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference in Washington the United States has no intention of "shooting its way through the canal" and would send ships around Africa, if necessary, to avoid hostilities.

Nasser Stands Firm

But one source close to President Gamal Abdel Nasser said nothing in Dulles' remarks had altered Nasser's opposition to the users' association plan.

This source said there was nothing new in Dulles' remarks. Another called Dulles' statements "very vague indeed."

However, Nasser late tonight was going over the users' association plan again with his chief advisers—Ali Sabry and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi—seemingly heading Dulles' urging that the plan be reconsidered in Cairo.

Egypt Sends Note To U. N.

Another Egyptian communication went to the United Nations today. It said Britain and France must be held responsible for any breakdown in canal operations arising from a walkout of foreign pilots and technicians.

More than 400 foreign pilots and other canal employees in Egypt have given notice to the Egyptian canal authority they will quit at midnight Friday.

"Ethel" Breaks Up

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 13 (AP)—Tropical storm Ethel, which once showed signs of developing into a full-fledged hurricane, broke up in the Atlantic into an area of squally weather today.

Fleeing Prisoner Wounds Three Before Recapture

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—A prisoner broke out of a courthouse detention cell on Staten Island today and in the ensuing wild chase three police officers were wounded before the prisoner was trapped in an abandoned garage.

The shooting occurred in the town of St. George, Staten Island is across New York Bay from Manhattan.

The captured man, Henry Bryant, 28, was shot and wounded in the arm when police finally closed in on him two hours later in the garage.

The wounded officers were Deputy Sheriff Russell Johnson 46; Detective John Lipka, 46, and Patrolman Edwin F. Daggett, 35. Johnson was in fair condition. The other two were in serious condition.

Bryant broke out of the court house after being taken there to talk with his lawyer. He had been indicted on a charge of assault and robbery.

School Boycott In Integration Dispute Spreads

CLAY, Ky., Sept. 13 (AP)—Boycotting of the Clay school spread today to some teachers as nearly 600 students shunned classrooms for a second day because two Negro pupils were admitted.

At the same time, Kentucky Atty. Gen. Jo M. Ferguson issued an opinion casting doubt on the legality of the Negro children being enrolled in the school.

The opinion, written at the request of the Webster County Board of Education, said "an individual parent has no right to enroll his child in a school without some action having been taken by the school board."

10 Teachers Stay Away

He added that if the matter were taken to court, it may be "the court will find Webster County has not acted with the 'deliberate speed required by the Supreme Court.'"

Ten of 17 Clay teachers failed to report for class. Two of the 10 resigned.

The mayor of Clay, Herman Z. Clark, said, "We will follow a policy of passive resistance by keeping our children out of school."

Only one unidentified third-grade boy remained in the three-story brick building with James and Teresa Gordon, the two Negro children. Outside, Kentucky National Guardsmen patrolled the school grounds.

The school principal, Miss Irene Powell, said the three pupils "are being taught regular classes."

Served In Cafeteria

At lunch time, she added, "they are served in the cafeteria."

She declined to identify the white boy but said he was in the same room with 8-year-old Teresa.

National Guardsmen opened the school to the Gordon children yesterday. Twice before angry crowds had turned the two Negro children and their mother, Mrs. James Gordon, away from the school.

At Sturgis, 31 miles away, 250 white students showed up for class along with seven Negroes. It was the fourth straight day white students had attended class in any sizeable numbers. The school has an enrollment of about 375.

Segregationists Meet At Easton

EASTON, Md., Sept. 13 (AP)—About 400 persons turned out tonight for what was billed as an organizational meeting of the Talbot White Citizens Committee.

Bryant Bowles, founder of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People, told the pro-segregation group his organization was the only one which had prevented racial integration in schools above the Mason-Dixon Line.

Bowles attended the session as guest speaker. Formerly of Milford, Del., he said he now makes his home at Beaumont, Tex.

The NAAWP was active in protesting integration of schools in the Milford area last year. After a series of disorders, 11 Negro pupils who had been admitted to a previously all-white high school were reassigned to all-Negro schools.

The Delaware Supreme Court ruled they had "no immediate right" to attend the Milford school.

Bowles was convicted of urging the violation of Delaware school laws and was fined $600.

Menzies And Wife Leave For New York

PRESTWICK, Scotland, Sept. 13 (AP)—Australia's Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies and his wife, Dame Patti, left by air tonight for New York.

The Menzies had visited Queen Elizabeth II at Balmoral. He made no statement at the airport but sent word to reporters that he expected to have talks with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on the Suez situation.

Menzies was head of the five-nation committee that conferred with President Nasser of Egypt in Cairo recently.

Guy Mitchell Weds

ATLANTA, Sept. 13 (AP)—Singer Guy Mitchell, 29, recording artist and night club performer, announced today that he married Else Sorensen, 22, in Bay St. Louis, Miss., yesterday.

Dulles Says U.S. Will Not Risk Conflict

U.S. Ships Will Be Diverted If Egypt Blocks Waterway

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States will push ahead with plans for a Suez Canal shippers' association despite Egypt's warning that implementation of the plan "means war."

At the same time Dulles stated this government does not intend to "shoot its way through" the canal if Egypt blocks the way.

Rather than risk war in the Middle East, he said, the United States is ready to send its shipping around the base of Africa, avoiding the waterway seized by Egypt July 26 in a nationalization move.

American loans to European countries would be considered, he announced, to help them buy Western Hemisphere oil if Middle East shipments are disrupted.

Egypt Assails New Plan

Dulles spoke out firmly at a jam-packed news conference a few minutes after receiving an urgent message from the Egyptian government bitterly assailing the new plan, which is sponsored by the Western Big Three.

The message was delivered by Ambassador Ahmed Hussein. An Egyptian Embassy statement said Dulles was told, "The scheme which Sir Anthony Eden wants to impose on Egypt is an open and flagrant aggression of Egyptian sovereignty and its implementation means war."

Eden is the British prime minister. The embassy said Hussein also informed Dulles:

"If the United States desires war, then she may support the scheme, but if her desire is to work for a peaceful solution, the scheme has to be abandoned."

In the face of this warning, Dulles told his news conference that Egypt's angry reaction "does not deter us from proceeding with this program." The plan was unveiled by Eden only yesterday.

Stop-Gap Move

Press officer Lincoln White said Dulles "fully covered" the American attitude in his five-minute meeting with Hussein earlier.

The plan which Egypt opposes so strongly would line up the United States, Britain and France in a Suez Canal users' association. This association would seek to send ships, guided by non-Egyptian pilots, through the canal. Other countries using the canal have been asked to join the enterprise.

Dulles is understood to have offered it as a stop-gap move until diplomacy settles the bitter dispute with Egypt over who is to operate the strategic waterway.

Appealing for Egyptian reconsideration, Dulles told reporters he believes the plan was "not sufficiently understood" by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Homeless Hornets Move Into House

WAUKESHA, Wis., Sept. 13 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John Melbo burned out a nest of hornets on their front porch last night, but the project turned out badly for several hundred reasons.

For one thing, the porch caught fire.

For the rest, the hornets, having no other place to go, moved in with the Melbos.

New Electronic Tube May Triple Distance Big Telescope Can See

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13 (AP)—A potent new electronic eye unveiled today may let the 200-inch Palomar telescope see three times farther into space, perhaps to the edge of the universe.

It might also capture really clear, detailed pictures of Mars to solve the mystery of its "canals."

This amazing but tiny tube can make faint light and images thousands of times brighter. That's the hope for seeing stars so far away they are invisible now.

It will be used on the great Mt. Palomar telescope perhaps within six months, said Dr. J. W. Colman of Westinghouse Electric Corp. The Palomar telescope in effect would become equal to a telescope with a mirror 2,000 inches wide, or half the length of a football field.

Theoretically it might see objects three times farther out in space than now is possible, Dr. Colman said. Palomar now takes

Dulles Discusses Suez With Newsmen

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles occupies the spotlight as he discusses the Suez crisis with newsmen at a conference in the State Department auditorium yesterday. He is flanked by Assistant Secretary of State Carl W. McCord (left) and News Division Chief Lincoln White. Dulles said the U. S. will go ahead with plans for a Suez Canal shippers' association but that this government does not intend to "shoot its way through" the canal if Egypt blocks the way. (AP Photofax)

President, Dulles Confer By Phone On Suez Crisis

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower today conferred three times by telephone with Secretary of State Dulles—twice about Suez.

The third call between the capital and Eisenhower's farm home here dealt with a letter to the President from Soviet Premier Bulganin. The letter was delivered to the State Department during the afternoon.

Campaign Launched

Eisenhower is relaxing at his farm after formally opening his campaign for re-election with a pep rally yesterday for party workers. Except for a round-trip flight to Washington tomorrow for a conference on Suez, Eisenhower plans to remain here through the weekend.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the Bulganin letter had nothing to do with the mounting Suez crisis. But he said Dulles did brief Eisenhower on the general contents of other Bulganin letters delivered today to Britain and France which did deal with the Suez.

"Lengthy" Letter

A State Department spokesman said the Russian premier's letter to Eisenhower was concerned only with disarmament. The two leaders have exchanged a series of letters on this subject, the most recent having been written by Eisenhower Aug. 4.

Hagerty said at the time Dulles gave Eisenhower a fill-in on the latest letter, it had not yet been fully translated. The press secretary said he couldn't give any information on its contents but it was "lengthy."

Argentine Strike

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 13 (AP)—Argentine merchant marine workers began a 24-hour strike this morning in protest against a deadlock in labor-management talks on their demands for wage increases.

Troopers of the Erie post said the truck caught fire as the two vehicles slid into a ditch locked side by side. The flames spread rapidly to the big bus.

Before firemen could extinguish the flames both vehicles were reduced to blackened steel and charred fabric. Two new cars on the truck also were damaged. They were flipped off the upper rack of the truck and wedged between the two burning vehicles.

Search For Plane Survivors Called Off

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Navy today called off the 7th Fleet's search for possible survivors of the patrol plane shot down by the Chinese Communists off the China coast three weeks ago.

A Navy announcement indicated no hope for finding survivors among the plane's 16 American crewmen. Four bodies have been recovered.

The Navy said: "Constant search by ships and aircraft of the 7th Fleet patrolling day and night since Aug. 23 has exhausted all possibilities for rescue of any survivors."

The U.S. government has formally charged the Chinese Communists with full responsibility for shooting down the Navy aircraft and has demanded compensation for loss of the plane and the Americans aboard.

Bulganin Letter On Disarmament Sent Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin has sent a new letter about disarmament to President Eisenhower.

Bulganin letters dealing with the Suez Canal crisis were delivered in London today to Prime Minister Eden and in Paris to Premier Guy Mollet.

A few hours afterward Ambassador Georgi Zarubin delivered the Eisenhower communication to Secretary Dulles at the State Department and there was immediate speculation that its theme also was Suez.

The ambassador, however, was asked about that and replied, "No."

Later a State Department spokesman said the letter dealt exclusively with disarmament.

3 Die In Crash Of Bus, Truck

MONROE, Mich., Sept. 13 (AP)—Three persons were killed and 22 injured today in a fiery head-on crash of a double-decked Greyhound bus and an auto-hauling truck loaded with cars.

The collision occurred on U. S. 24 about two miles north of Monroe. The bus was en route to Detroit from Pittsburgh.

Killed were the truck driver, Francis G. Pesko, 43, of Detroit, and two bus passengers, Mrs. Frankie Mae Semple, 38, also of Detroit, and an unidentified Negro woman.

Six of the injured were hospitalized here. Most seriously hurt was the bus driver, Charles Kier, 48, of New Kensington, Pa. He suffered severe burns and was listed in critical condition.

State Police said the crash occurred in the center lane of a three lane highway. The Sheriff's Department classifies the section, one of Michigan's busiest highway arteries, as a "high accident area."

The shooting took place in the village of Triko, near the east coast.

The shooting followed the recent pattern of reprisal slayings by EOKA—fighting arm of the group seeking union of this British Island with Greece—against fellow countrymen whom the underground has marked as traitors.

Russia Gives U. N. Model Of Its Atomic Power Plant

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—The Soviet Union gave the U. N. today a model of the first Soviet operating atomic power plant and said it is introducing atomic energy into the U.S.S.R. national economy in every possible way.

Georgi F. Saksin, acting permanent representative of the Soviet Union at the U. N., made the presentation in a short speech prepared for a ceremony attended by a number of U. N. delegates and Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Presentation of the model, unveiled at the Geneva atomic conference last year, caught several countries by surprise. The United States and four others were preparing exhibits to be opened Sept. 19 but the Russians stole a march.

Saksin said the model is of the first industrial atomic power plant in the world. He said it was constructed and put into operation in the Soviet Union in the summer of 1954.

Detailing some of the atomic plans for Russia, Saksin said that during the 6th five-year plan from 1956-1960 the Soviet Union will build atomic power plants having a total capacity of 2½ million kilowatts. Also, he said, Russia is building the first ice-breaker propelled by atomic energy and it will accompany ships from Europe to Asia and back without refueling for two and three years.

British Fear Nasser Might Attack Israel

London Will Resort To U.N. If Treaty Violated By Egypt

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden predicted tonight Egypt's President Nasser will attack Israel next if he gets away with seizure of the Suez Canal. Eden hinted Britain would go to Israel's rescue with arms if necessary.

Eden told the House of Commons there was no doubt that an attack on Israel would be the next step for a triumphant Nasser.

The House gave Eden a 319-248 vote of confidence on his Suez policies after he refused to promise not to use force if necessary in the crisis and said he would resort to the U.N. if Egypt violated treaty rights.

Before the final vote of confidence his supporters batted down a Labor motion of censure 321-251.

In the closing minutes of the debate Eden asked:

"What will be the next step if Col. Nasser is allowed to succeed in the action he has taken?"

He added: "I have no doubt what it will be and I do not think the House has—I repeat, Nasser called it 'the stooge of imperialism' in the very speech in which he nationalized the canal."

Egypt's Contention Ignored

The voting came hours after Egypt told the Western powers their plan to take over control of Suez traffic, if carried through—will flash off a new war.

The tense House brushed aside the Egyptian contention that setting up a canal users' association to run ships through it "means war."

The vote stiffened the prime minister's campaign to keep the canal out of Nasser's sole control despite Laborite cries of "gunboat diplomacy."

There were similar votes of confidence in the House of Lords.

Eden mentioned the possibility of asking U.N. action after Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell demanded to know whether the British government intended to shoot its way through the canal.

The Prime Minister said if Egypt barred the canal to any ship from the proposed users' association, the western powers would demand security council action.

Dulles Appeals To Nasser

Barring a ship would violate the Suez Convention of 1888 on free access to the canal, Eden said.

The plans announced for the users' association Wednesday hinted the first test of President Nasser's intentions might be to try sending a ship with a fully qualified pilot through the canal.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles said the United States does not intend "to shoot its way through" the canal. Appealing to Egypt to reconsider its rejection of the Western plan, Dulles said the United States would go into the users' association with Britain and France alone if no other countries join.

Fifteen other countries have been invited to join the group. With the Western Big Three, they represent 90 per cent of the canal shipping traffic.

The Eden victory pointed up the Suez crisis hour of Friday midnight. Nearly 100 pilots and about 300 other non-Egyptian technicians along the 103-mile waterway made ready to walk off the job at that time.

Gangster Influence In Teamster Local Charged At Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Charges of gangster influence in the strife-torn Teamsters Union Local No. 445 in Yonkers, N. Y., exploded today into a Senate investigation.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, announced he has assigned two top sleuths to the inquiry. Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the subcommittee has subpoenaed "virtually all of the union's records."

Kennedy said one objective is to learn whether a mysterious "Johnny D." reportedly named in the subpoenaed records, is Johnny Dio, the New York gangster now awaiting trial in connection with the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

The subcommittee has had "a continuing interest" in Dio and other hoodlums since it questioned him behind closed doors last spring, Kennedy said.

McClellan described the inquiry into the Teamsters Union affairs as "fitting into the subcommittee's search for evidence of graft and underworld influence in the making of contracts for the purchase of military uniforms."

Kennedy said the subcommittee has been exploring charges that racketeers have quietly obtained subcontracts to work on uniforms in cut-rate nonunion garment shops which they kept free from union organizing by various devices.

The transportation of goods, materials and finished products is a large item in contracts for the manufacture of the uniforms.

McClellan said he has assigned Carmine Bellino, the subcommittee's top accountant-investigator, and Paul Tierney, an assistant counsel who doubles as an investigator, to Yonkers to go through the union's records.

The development is a sequel to seizure of the union's records by an insurgent faction which describes itself as a "Clean Union" group. The issue of control over the local is now in the New York State courts.

McClellan has said he expects the Senate investigation, which may extend through most of another year, will show that gangsters have muscled into some firms which obtained contracts from the armed forces, and that they then engineered a lot of shady work on the contracts.

Pentagon Raps End-Draft Talk

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Pentagon's manpower boss said today "rash and comforting promises" about a possible end to the draft place the nation's security programs "in grave jeopardy."

Carter L. Burgess, assistant secretary of defense for manpower and personnel, referred to a recent speech by Adlai Stevenson but he did not use the name of the Democratic presidential nominee.

Burgess said in a talk prepared for the Military Order of the World Wars that for anyone to say now the United States can look hopefully to a time when it can safely end the draft "could put our programs in grave jeopardy."

Experience has shown, he said, that "the draft is necessary" when military forces number more than 1 1/4 million men.

With such considerations in mind, he added, "this is no time for holding forth rash and comforting promises in the guise of statesmanship."

Stevenson, in a speech to the American Legion convention at Los Angeles Sept. 5, said:

"We can now anticipate the possibility—hopefully but responsibly—that within the foreseeable future we can maintain the military forces we need without the draft."

Boy Struck By Door Awarded $27,500

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—A five-year-old boy struck by a coal chute door has been awarded $27,500 under a consent judgment signed today by District Court Judge Matthew F. McGuire.

He is James Vance. His father, Joseph, who contended the son suffered serious head injuries when the door fell and knocked him to a concrete pavement was awarded $5,000 under the judgment.

$16 Million Bid On West Va. Dam Lowest Of Nine

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 13 (AP)—Three contracting firms submitted the apparent low bid of $16 million today for constructing the Sutton Dam flood control project on the Elk River.

Col. H. J. Skidmore, district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, said the bid was submitted by the Arundel Corp. of Baltimore, Md., the L. E. Dixon Co. of San Gabriel, Calif., and the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co. of Cleveland, Ohio.

Col. Skidmore added that their bid of $16,015,785 was the lowest of nine bids submitted. The government estimate, of $14,218,366, did not allow for profit.

Work on the dam is expected to take two years, eight months to complete, once the engineers give the notice to proceed. The contractors will build a concrete gravity dam with sluice gates and controls, and Tainter crest gates and operating machinery. The dam also will have a spillway bridge.

Previously, contracts were let to relocate the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and Secondary Road 17 near the dam site, about a mile above Sutton.

The railroad relocation work includes constructing a 600-foot tunnel through a mountainside, relocating eight miles of road bed, and constructing two 600-foot bridges and an arch culvert.

Coal Group Elects Board Of Directors

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The National Coal Assn. announced today the election of a board of directors for its newly activated affiliate, the Bituminous Coal Institute, which will handle the association's market promotion activities.

The announcement said R. L. Ireland of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. was elected institute president and Tom Pickett vice president. Pickett also is executive vice president of the association.

Ireland said the first meeting of the board will be held here Sept. 26, when an "operating head" will be designated.

The board members: R. R. Gebhart, Freeman Coal Mining Corp.; Charles R. Griffith, Southern Coal and Coke Co.; Harry Junod, Pickands, Mather & Co.; T. L. Kelce, Peabody Coal Co.; John L. Kemmerer Jr., Wise Coal & Coke Co.; Ralph H. Knode, General Coal Co.; George E. Owen, Imperial Coal Corp.; M. L. Patton, Truax-Traer Coal Co.; R. E. Salvati, Island Creek Coal Co.; W. S. ## Apartment Manager Kills Wife And Self

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13 (AP)—Homicide investigators said an apartment house manager stabbed his wife in the chest early today, then pushed her from their car to let her bleed to death in the street while he parked his car not far away and killed himself with a butcher knife.

The deaths of Chester C. Wilshusen, 48, and Mrs. Shirley Wilshusen, 33, were listed as murder and suicide.

No notes were found. Mrs. Wilshusen was clad in a flimsy green nightgown and a pink silk scarf.

Miles, Ike Backer In 1952, Will Work For Stevenson

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—Clarence W. Miles, a leader of Maryland Democrats for Eisenhower in 1952, announced tonight he will serve as State chairman of Volunteers for Stevenson, Kefauver.

Miles, prominent attorney and former president of the Baltimore Orioles baseball club, said he was backing the Democratic ticket this time partly because President Eisenhower "is obviously no less able than he was four years ago to cope with the staggering burdens" of the presidency.

He said he also felt that Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson in the last four years

Man Who Built Own Coffin In 1939 Dies

VEEDERSBURG, Ind., Sept. 13 (AP)—William J. (Buckwheat Bill) Mellott, 96, who built his own coffin 17 years ago and called it "fit for a king," died today in a Waynetown nursing home.

He will be buried Sunday in the finely finished box of native hardwood. The interior is custom upholstered he had made by a coffin manufacturing firm.

Mellott, retired carpenter and farmer, earned his nickname 40 years ago by serving buckwheat pancake feasts, using flour ground in his own small mill.

After Mellott's death Charles Fishero got the coffin out of storage at his funeral home. Inside he found the suit and other clothing in which Mellott wanted to be buried. Mellott is survived by four children.

this century to lose control of Congress in his first elected term?

"I think it is because the fog is rising, the fog of half-truths and amiable complacency and people perceive that all is not well."

The central issue in the campaign, Stevenson said, is "whether America wants to stay on dead center, mired in complacency and cynicism; or whether it wants once more now to move forward—to meet our human needs... to build a new America."

He took issue with the Republican claim of "peace, prosperity, progress," saying that in four years of wealth and abundance "our government has let the shortage of schoolrooms and teachers get worse."

"It—the Republican administration—has done almost nothing to stop the slum cancer which today infects 10 million American dwellings," he said, while juvenile delinquency has "increased at a frightening rate."

Public Response To Maryland Air Raid Test Spotty

(By The Associated Press)

Public response to Maryland's state-wide air-raid test ranged from spotty to "100 per cent successful," civil defense officials reported tonight.

The test was a highlight of National Civil Defense Week.

Col. Frank Milani, Baltimore CD director, indicated disappointment with results of the practice alert in the downtown section, where police reported most pedestrians appeared oblivious.

By contrast, Cumberland officials said they were pleased. Arthur B. Gibson, city coordinator for civil defense, called the drill there "100 per cent successful."

Soon after the 2 p.m. "take-cover" signal—a wailing, wailing sound lasting three minutes—all traffic on Baltimore Street in the downtown section was at a standstill. The street was deserted.

Light traffic was observed on side streets, but officials attributed this to race-goers eager to get to the races at the Cumberland Fairgrounds.

In Hagerstown, city and CD police stopped all traffic. The town's six fire companies dispersed their equipment. Five CD casualty centers throughout Washington County were reported on the ready. The Antietam Radio Assn., an organization of county amateur radio operators, established a protective network for civil defense operations.

But Milani and other Baltimore officials said preliminary reports indicated many rough spots were obvious in the first alert in 14 months in the nation's sixth largest city.

Anti-Trust Suit Against Big Soap Firms Dismissed

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 13 (AP)—A civil anti-trust suit against the "big three" of the soap industry was dismissed tonight by U.S. Dist. Judge Alfred E. Modarelli.

Judge Modarelli dismissed the suit because the government refused to produce grand jury minutes for lawyers for the companies — Colgate - Palmolive, Procter & Gamble and Lever Brothers.

He had recently ordered U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell to produce the grand jury record—traditionally secret — so defense lawyers could prepare their cases.

Asst. U.S. Atty. George J. Rossi, who has been handling the case, said the decision would be referred to the Justice Department to decide on an appeal.

The records are of an 18-month grand jury investigation in 1951 and 1952. The civil suit was filed after the jury declined to indict the soap companies for possible criminal anti-trust violations.

Changes In Road Program Up To Maryland Assembly

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the State Roads Commission, passed the word today that, while many sections may feel changes in the original 12-year program seem desirable in retrospect, it will be up to the Legislature to make any. In addition, he sought to drop cold water on any prevalent ideas that increased federal funds because of the new highway program constituted a windfall that would permit reduction in the planned $66-million dollar Maryland expenditure.

"The federal program was shoved down our necks faster than we expected," the new chairman said. "It gave us this relief. The estimates of our costs for 1956 were low, so that the federal money will let us go ahead as scheduled. But we're still going to be shy on the first four-year program."

Bonnell's views were expressed to the Prince Georges County Commissioners' who were seeking a speed-up in priority on scheduled rebuilding of Route 202 between Bladensburg and Upper Marlboro. They also supported consideration of an extension of a road to Route 5 within their county.

Bonnell replied he was sympathetic to both proposals. But he spelled out that the Roads Commission is bound by the original 12-year program as approved by the legislature in 1952 and started in 1954.

He reminded the Prince Georges County visitors that the legislature divided the program into three four-year sections and retained the right to approve it at the end of each four years. The first review is next year.

"The Legislature could move up the program or cut it off entirely," Bonnell pointed out.

Bonnell made his points in telling the Prince Georges delegation he was sympathetic to their situation, saying "many such problems" exist, particularly in their rapidly growing area, Montgomery and Baltimore counties.

He said such cases made it necessary to ask the legislature for more money, and he queried "how much backing are you going to get from counties not getting it. You have to be realistic."

"False Front" Charge Thrown Back At Adlai

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md) threw back at Adlai Stevenson today the Democratic presidential nominee's charge that President Eisenhower was governing behind a "false front."

Butler referred to Stevenson's allegation in Albany, N. Y. last Monday that Eisenhower by word no longer objects to New Deal innovations but by deed uses his White House power to "undermine the progress" made under Democratic administration.

In a statement issued through the Republican National Committee, Butler said:

"If there was ever a 'false front,' it is the new Stevenson who has changed his 1952 character to front for the machine politicians, some labor bosses and the radical ADA.

"Fronting for the Arveys and Finnegan, the Dubinsky and Reuthers, the Wexlers and Schellings, strange bedfellows indeed, scarcely qualifies Adlai E. Stevenson to invent a 'false front' in Washington.

"Adlai Stevenson says he is for the people. Does he mean the 5 per centers . . . The deep freeze and mink coat brigade? Does he mean the Pennsylvania machine crowd who would like to replace the Missouri gang at the White House?"

"President Eisenhower's Republican administration has shown it is for all the people. What people is 'False Front' Stevenson for?"

Request For Lie Test Backfires

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Sept. 13 (AP)—A Hagerstown motorist entered a not guilty plea to a charge of hitting another car and driving off, then offered to take a lie detector test to prove he was telling the truth.

Joseph Bitner, 20, was given the test.

Today, Magistrate Paul Ottinger gave him the findings. Overwhelming evidence he didn't tell the truth, said Ottinger.

Bitner was fined $50 and must either pay the $151 damages to the other car or serve 60 days in jail.

Clement Moore wrote his poem, "The Night Before Christmas," as a Christmas present for his two daughters.

Republican Quits Contest For Judge

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 13 (AP)—Noah A. Hillman, Annapolis attorney, said today he is withdrawing as the Republican candidate for election to a new judgeship in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court.

He said he will submit a formal resignation to the Secretary of State within the next few days, requesting that his name be removed from the General Election ballot.

James P. Brock, administrative assistant to the Secretary of State, said the Republican State Central Committee would have the authority to nominate a replacement candidate for the judicial post if Hillman should submit a formal resignation.

Hillman said he is withdrawing because of his dissatisfaction with the support given him by local Republican officials.

Boy, 8, Got Car, Father Got Jail

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—James Heath appeared in Traffic Court for the fourth time today on a charge of operating a motor vehicle after his license had been revoked.

This time he had the car registered in the name of his eight-year-old son. He explained it this way: "My boy always wanted a car, so I bought this one as a present for him. I thought it would be a good present."

Magistrate Richard Gilbert didn't see it that way. He gave Heath a year in jail.

because of his dissatisfaction with the support given him by local Republican officials.

Two Fish Houses Burn At Rock Hall

ROCK HALL, Md., Sept. 13 (AP)—Fire destroyed two fish houses at this Chesapeake Bay fishing center early today. Firemen fought the blaze for seven hours to prevent it from spreading to four oil storage tanks only 20 feet away from one of the buildings.

Damage was estimated at $40,000.

Both buildings handled retail and wholesale fish trade.

Cause of the blaze had not been determined.

'Mr. State Roads' To Retire Oct. 1

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—William F. Childs Jr., former chief engineer of the State Roads Commission, will retire Oct. 1 after 46 years service.

Childs helped plan Maryland's first stretch of concrete highway in 1912.

He joined the commission as an inspector when the commission was only two years old.

He resigned as chief engineer in 1954, explaining he would not be able to serve out the full span of Maryland's 12-year roads program. He since has served as advising engineer to the commission.

Childs, known among his associates as "Mr. Maryland State Roads" was chief engineer for the accelerated roads program started in the Lane Administration and was chief architect of the 12-year roads program sponsored by the McKeldin administration. That program is now in its third year.

Employees of the commission with whom Childs has worked will give him a testimonial dinner to-night.

Anticolonial Bloc Deters UN Suez Action

By MAX HARRELSON
AP U. N. Correspondent

One of the main reasons for Western hesitancy in bringing the Suez problem to the U. N. is the growing strength of the anticolonial bloc in the world organization.

This group, supported by the Soviet bloc, would stand a good chance of preventing any action in the 76-nation General Assembly which might be considered unfriendly to Egypt.

The anticolonial group does not have such strong representation in the 11-nation Security Council, but Russia could prevent action just as effectively by using her veto there.

At present the Security Council seems the most likely organ to get the Suez question if and when it is brought to the U. N. Britain and France laid the foundation for such action yesterday when they notified the Council that the situation "if allowed to continue, would constitute a manifest danger to peace and security."

From the Western point of view, there would be two main advantages in taking the case to the Security Council rather than the Assembly. First, the Assembly does not meet until Nov. 12. And, second, the Western powers probably would consider themselves in a stronger moral position if they could blame their failure on a Soviet veto, rather than through lack of a two-thirds majority in the Assembly.

The heart of the anticolonial force in the U. N. is the tightly knit group of 23 Asian and African nations which often has voted together almost unanimously on colonial issues.

Together with the nine members of the Soviet bloc, and a few scattered votes from other countries, they could muster well over the 26 negative votes needed to side-track action.

Global Climate Control Is Seen In Few Decades

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (INS)—A member of the Atomic Energy Commission predicted recently that nations within a few decades will achieve global climate control, raising the "awful" prospect of weather warfare.

Commissioner John von Neumann said man's knowledge is "rapidly approaching a level that will make possible, in a few decades, intervention in atmospheric and climatic matters."

He did not indicate what form climate control methods might take but said once they are developed, "they will be exploited."

Von Neumann, a noted mathematician, gave his views in a worldwide Voice of America broadcast—the second in a weekly symposium on "The frontiers of knowledge and humanity's hope for the future."

He said use of weather-harnessing procedures in one region "may critically affect another."

Thus, he added, "present awful possibilities of nuclear warfare may give way to others even more awful. After global climate control becomes possible, perhaps all our present involvements will seem simple."

Von Neumann said it would be necessary in the face of such a development to bring about "new political forms and procedures."

"All experience shows," he said, "that even technological changes smaller than those now in the cards profoundly transform political and social relationships."

He said the development he envisioned "will merge each nation's affairs with those of every other, more thoroughly than the threat of nuclear or any other war may already have done."

On The Line

by Bob Considine

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (INS)—Taxpayers (including the farmer) will pay the American farmer about $4,000,000,000 this year for a variety of services rendered, including the service of not doing what he was born to do, which is raise all the crops the good earth and hard work will yield.

The farmer will be promised even more in the years to come, in the course of the impending campaign oratory. Yet this aid program has resulted in the accumulation of more than $9,000,000,000 in farm surpluses, paid for by the taxpayer. Storage costs amount to $1,000,000 a day, seven days a week.

Leveling those tower mountains of surplus produce is as much the deep-furrowed concern of the Eisenhower administration as it was of the Truman regime. If we give it away to the starving countries, we offend certain countries which are barely hanging on to solvency, sovereignty and sanity by selling similar stuff to the hungry country. If we don't we're blasted in the Communist world as pitilessly selfish. If we try to sell it at full price, the markets are inclined to shy away and await better terms. If we sell it at a cut rate, to recapture at least a bit of the dizzy fortune invested, the big trade nations scream that we are underselling them. In traditionally friendly Canada, which now has a half billion bushel wheat surplus, there is a rare anti-USA feeling.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R) Ind., and others have been demanding for years that consideration be given to finding ways and means of absorbing farm surpluses by means of industrial use. For example, if all the rubber used in the U. S. were made from grain (350 bushels can be reduced to one long ton of synthetic rubber) the grain surplus could be wiped out in a year. There are comparable opportunities in all forms of alcohol, plastics and fuel.

The newspaper you are reading has a bit of vegetable starch mixed in it. It helps extend the supply of precious newsprint, now selling up to $150 a ton. If too much starch "stretcher" is put in, the paper becomes brittle. But if a way is found safely to double the small amount of starch used (five per cent), we could use up 100,000,000 bushels of corn starch every year.

Sen. Capehart proposed legislation of breathtaking scope, based on this industrial use of surpluses and farm products to come. He envisioned a day of doubled markets, the wiping out of costly farm support programs, a heady increase in farm income, reduced taxes and better times for all—all speeded by federal-backed research. The bill didn't get out of committee.

Now the President has appointed J. Leroy Welch, famed Omaha grain man, as head of a committee to make a thorough study of how to use up the grain and other surpluses (cotton, eggs, milk, etc.) and to think beyond that. The committee is meeting in executive session at the Department of Agriculture building this week (though it is not a part of the department and specifically told like it does not want to be). It will draft suggested legislation for the new Congress.

"No nation in history ever survived the destruction of its agriculture," self-made man Welch told us. "Paying a farmer not to produce is no way of settling the problem. That's like suggesting that we close up all our schools of agriculture, shut down the fertilizer plants and turn off the irrigation. That would hold down production."

too, but nobody would be crazy enough to suggest it."

U. S. industry has gobbled up most of our scientists, contends the man who was born in Prairie Home, Neb., population 22, and is the only non-college graduate who is a regent of the University of Nebraska. Agriculture must get industry's scientists or their knowledge to help it find a way out of the verdant jungle, he says. He is sure his commission can suggest roads to an era of plenty which might well turn in its tracks the enormous rush of millions of Americans from the farms to the cities.

"In the past 25 years about 98 per cent of all farm research money has been spent on increasing production and only two per cent on consumption," Welch snorted. "We hope to lower those odds."

Welsh, former partner in the grain business of Hugh Butler, late senator from Nebraska, scoffed at efforts, to draft him as senatorial nominee from that state. Independently wealthy Welsh, who looks a bit like Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, said, "Why should I get mixed up in politics? I don't like criticism so why should I expose myself to it when I don't have to?"

"He's convinced, however, that the economic future of the nation hangs on the agricultural revolution to which he is dedicating his payless services."

Real Estate Man Given $2 Million For Investment

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 13 (AP)—A 37-year-old Perry, Fla., real estate developer filed a declaration of trust with the secretary of state yesterday under terms of which he said a mysterious millionaire handed him two million dollars for investment.

Joe H. Scales said the stipulation is that 20 years from now he must return the money with 6 per cent simple interest and split with him the profits from his investments.

The trust agreement was made by a man named Juan T. Wrigo who, Scales said, was worth many times the two million dollars.

Scales said he knew how to contact Wrigo but that under terms of the trust declaration he need not necessarily contact him until the 20 years were up.

"I realize the story sounds fantastic but it's true," he said.

Scales said some of the two-million-dollar nest egg was in cash and some in property in foreign countries which it would be necessary for him to convert into cash in order to use the proceeds. He has taken out a passport for visits to several Latin-American countries.

Asked by a reporter if Wrigo is an American, Scales replied:

"I frankly don't know. I don't know much about his background except that my attorney and I have made a check and determined that he has the wealth which he has told us he has."

Integration Foe Says He Has Instinctive Distrust Of Men With College Educations

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 13 (AP)—A New Jersey-born college graduate who says he has an "instinctive distrust" of men with college educations is the newest voice raised against racial integration in the south.

John Kasper, 26, ran right-wing bookshops in New York and later Washington until he became interested in the pro-segregation Citizens Council movement.

When Negroes enrolled in the previously all-white Clinton, Tenn. High School by federal court order early this month, Kasper appeared on the scene. He is accused of stirring up white protests which were not restrained until National Guardsmen moved in.

He was sentenced to a year in prison for violation of a federal injunction against further demonstrations. Now free on $10,000 bond pending appeal, he vows to press a council organizational drive throughout Tennessee. He came to Alabama for several appearances this week.

An admirer of poet Ezra Pound, Kasper at first meeting would not appear to have much in common with the masses to whom he directs his appeal.

But listen to him on a platform, or talk to him, and he plucks sharply at the taut chord of Southern racial feeling.

"I've been interested all my life in the purity of the races," Kasper said in an interview. "I believe that all movement in history has been a product of race and personal character. I believe the white race is the great race and the only race which has fought for free institutions."

"I do not hate Negroes, but I believe that for the progress of the white and Negro races this is best accomplished by separate institutions based on a particular destiny of the separate races."

Although the Eastern Seaboard White Citizens Council which Kasper founded at Washington limits its membership to white Christians, Kasper denies that this is anti-Semitic.

"I denounce anti-Semitism as unscientific," Kasper declared. The Council stand, he said, "is isolating things out in their elements. It's the same kind of exclusion that the Jews practice all the time."

Kasper is tall and dark-haired, with long, slender fingers. Dressed in a loose-fitting gray suit, he looked like a university graduate student, perhaps a musician. His conversational voice is pleasant and cultured.

Kasper said he began organizing the Washington Council following a tour of Alabama last March. This was shortly after admittance of a Negro coed to the University of Alabama, and the rioting that drove her away, had boomed the council movement in this state.

He had a choice between two types of councils — one which claims that all-white schools have been preserved in Alabama by legal means, another which accuses the first group of cowardice in handling the Negro problem.

The second group is headed by Asa E. Carter, a former radio announcer. Carter's fiery speeches have attracted membership from the ranks of the Ku Klux Klan, which is reorganizing in Alabama. The tradition of the Klan in times of racial crisis is action.

Kasper sided with Carter. He said he decided that "the only sincere and courageous leader in the entire movement was Carter—that the rest of the so-called leaders in Alabama and other states, including Mississippi, were controlled by politicians seeking to gain a foothold in their respective states outside of the regular political machines."

Stanton Heads Maryland Port Authority Board

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—Joseph L. Stanton, director of public relations for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, yesterday was named executive director of the newly-created Maryland Port Authority.

Stanton, former newspaperman in Columbus, Ohio, Chicago and Morgantown, W. Va., will assume his new duties Nov. 1. His salary will be $25,000.

He was elected at a closed meeting of the five-man board of the port authority after the group had been honored at the annual Port of Baltimore Day luncheon of the Propeller Club.

At the luncheon Herbert R. O'Connor, general counsel to the American Merchant Marine Institute, predicted that atomic-powered merchant vessels would revolutionize the maritime industry. The former Maryland governor and onetime U.S. senator envisioned a whole new pattern of trade routes, drastically reduced transportation costs and resultant drops in the cost of merchandise.

O'Connor urged Baltimore to face up to the competition soon to be felt when the St. Lawrence Seaway is opened. He said increased world trade and better transportation facilities will make possible the "fullest utilization both of the St. Lawrence Seaway and of existing ports, including our own."

"With the reality of nuclear vessel propulsion upon us," he added, "it seems evident that the maritime industry is on the brink of an event of even greater impact than the coming of steam to transoceanic movement of goods and people."

"The potential carrying capacity of each vessel will be so great, due to the increase in revenue space per ship and high speed, that present trade volume could be handled with far fewer units," O'Connor added.

Members of the port authority honored at the luncheon included Paul Smith of Hagerstown, Avery Hall of Salisbury, Edward S. Corcoran of Anne Arundel County, D. Luke Hopkins and Chairman Robert W. Williams, both of Baltimore.

Benson Declares Brannon Farm Plan Would Cost Uncle Sam $5.4 Billion Year

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said last night that a Brannon Plan farm program—which he said Democrats endorsed at their recent Chicago convention—would cost the government $5,400,000,000 a year.

Such a program, he added, would reduce farmers to a "government dole" and put them under controls that would constitute "rationing" of opportunities in agriculture.

Benson sharply criticized Democratic farm proposals in a speech prepared for the 75th anniversary dinner of the Minneapolis Grain Exchange.

The GOP farm chief said the farm plan adopted by the Democrats presented no new or "forward-looking issues." He said it was not so much a platform as it "is a pile of lumber." Two of its most important provisions, he added, "have already been whipped—mandatory supports at 90 per cent of parity and the Brannon Plan."

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

The Brannon Plan, advanced in 1949 by former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannon, would allow farm prices to seek their own level in the market with the government making up the difference between the market price and the predetermined guaranteed prices. This plan has been adopted for wool upon the recommendation of the Eisenhower administration.

"When former Secretary Brannon offered his plan in 1949, he was asked what this program would cost," Benson said. "Analysis in the department made a study at that time to estimate the cost, which turned out to be so great that it was never made public."

"We have now repeated and updated this study, in the light of current conditions," the secretary said. "We find that to assure prices for major agricultural commodities at 90 per cent of parity, not on everything the farmers might produce, but on only the 1951-55 volume of production, using the Brannon technique, would cost $5,400,000,000 a year."

Benson said that adoption of the Brannon Plan would mean that farmers would get almost half of their net income from the government, in exchange for which they would be subjected to production quotas, policing and penalties.

Benson said the Republican farm program is "making real progress toward a prosperous, expanding and free agriculture."

Be an expert at handling that fashionable feminine accessory—the stole.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

How To Wear A Stole

Have you greeted the importance of the stole in the new winter fashions with mixed emotions? Did you think at the fashion show — "They're so pretty — but I don't seem to be the kind of woman who can manage a stole?"

Yes, a stole must be handled with finesse. But there's nothing too difficult about it, after all, if you know fashion model ways. Here are simple Don'ts and Do's that the Powers fashions experts worked out to guide you:

First of all, Don't pull a stole around you so tightly it loses soft draping. It looks skimpy that way, and pointless. Do wear it loosely enough to fall in full, graceful lines — the only way it looks beautiful.

Don't let a stole fall down your back so far it looks as if it were about to drop off. It may, and the ends look cut off too short in front. Do pull the ends down and arrange the stole higher on your shoulders, and if it's worn for warmth, crisscross the ends in a cowl effect at the throat.

And Don't let the ends of a stole dangle off the precipice of your chest for another reason — there's too much risk of making your figure look dumpty. Do let one end of the stole hang lower than the other and drape the longer side over your wrist, in the curve of your elbow or under your belt. The diagonal lines thus created help to lessen the appearance of girth and are always more interesting to the eye. For the tall, slight figure, they also help to cut down height.

Don't rearrange a stole constantly. You won't need to if you put it on correctly in the first place. Do study the effect of your stole in a mirror at home before you appear with it in public. And Don't toss the ends around as you put it on or readjust it. Do set it on one shoulder, slip your hand behind your neck and slide it to the opposite side.

Tomorrow—Gentle to listen to. "WHAT'S YOUR LINE?" — Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! Complete information on handling lines to best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 5c (in coin) and a stamped self-addressed return envelope. ## Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13.—(INS)—When Rosalind Courtright re-takes off for Madrid to film putting on two plays she owns, "Thieves Market" for his and Sy. Jerry Lewis is breaking out all Bartlett's independent company, over in solo acts. He's now made When I was in London, I talked an album for Decca of Al Jolson's with Ava Gardner and she told me, "All in one night these women Greg in this picture, which will sing—Marilyn Maxwell, Joanne be shot almost in its entirety in Gilbert, Maggie Whiting, Betty Hutton and Dolores Gray were in Spain. "However," said Ava, "I am to hear the Mary Kaye trio at the definitely coming back to spend Christmas with my family in North Carolina and to pick up my divorce papers from Frank Sinatra in Reno. I can't say definitely whether I'll do 'Thieves Market,' because I can't do it without the permission of MGM."

After six months in Spain on "The Pride And The Passion," Cary Grant said that he is so exhausted he won't even read a script for a while. He is taking Betsy Drake (Mrs. Grant) to Palm Springs tomorrow to rest. "I was on location when Betsy was rescued from the Andrea Doria," he told me, "and knew not a word about it until I returned. There was a cable from Betsy, but before I had a chance to open it, the clerk said, 'we are so sorry about the sinking of the Andrea Doria.'"

"The telephone lines, which usually close at 1 a. m., were kept open so I could talk to Betsy when she stepped off the Ile de France, which had picked her up. She lost everything she owned, even her shoes and glasses. It was a harrowing experience."

I went straight to headquarters when I heard that MGM has already found "Ben Hur," in a young Italian actor named Cesare Danova. "True or false?" I asked Marvin Schenck because I had heard that Tony Curtis was leading the field for this spectacle. "We've had Cesare under contract here since June," Marvin told me, "Benny Thau, our head of talent, found him in Rome and signed him after seeing him in 'Don Juan'. I'm telling you the truth when I say we expect big things from this boy, although it's too soon to talk about 'Ben Hur'. He'll do something important before that as soon as he perfects his English."

I learned that Mrs. Danova, who expects a baby in two months, has just joined her husband in Hollywood.

When I tell you that "The Brave One" has a background of bull-fighting you're going to think the heat touched me when I say seldom have I seen a more charming, delightful and sentimental picture. It's the story of a little boy and a great and courageous bull he raises from a calf—it's simply told, inexpensively made and is slated for RKO release.

What a wonderful little actor is Michel Ray as the Mexican boy! I might add, what a wonderful "actor" is the bull! The camera-work, the musical score and fine acting all add up to make this a triumph for the dauntless King brothers (who come up with a goodie now and then) and Irving Rapper who has directed both the spectacular and intimate scenes with deep feeling.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:
Mother-in-law trouble is said to be the reason for the Mary Murphy-Dale Robertson split. But most of their friends believe separation is only temporary.
Frank Sinatra sent his car for Kim Novak who motors to Las Vegas tomorrow to hear him sing at the Sands. Kim won't fly.
Window shopping after hours on Fifth Avenue looking at baby clothes were Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier.

Maplehurst Club To Meet Today

A meeting of the Maplehurst Country Club grounds committee will be held today at 8 p. m. at the club house.
The session is being held to lay out plans for improvements of the golf course and hear a report of John O'Rourke, greenskeeper, on his three-day visit to Penn State College.
At a meeting Monday night the group heard a report from James G. Harrison, of Turtle Creek, Pa., an architect who is making a survey of the club house and course. Harrison inspected the golf facilities on Tuesday.

At the RCA Missile Test project he will be involved in the testing and evaluation of newly-developed weapon systems in the Air Force Missile Development Program.

Departure Ceremony Scheduled Sunday For Six Mission-Bound Capuchin Friars

A departure ceremony will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church in honor of six Capuchin friars who have been assigned to mission fields.

The group to be honored is made up of Rev. Gary Stakem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Stakem, 414 Fayette Street; Brother Claude Mattingly, son of Mrs. H. T. Mattingly, 15 North Chase Street; Rev. Gregory Smith, Boston, all of whom will leave next month for the Papuan highlands of New Guinea, and Rev. Jude Senieur, who served as superior of the St. Peter and Paul Monastery for several years prior to his new assignment; Rev. Anthony Shreck and Rev. Donatus Roscetti, all of whom will leave next week for the Capuchin mission at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Following the ceremony, a reception will be held in their honor at the parish hall, sponsored by the Friars Guild. The reception will be open to members of the parish and friends and relatives of the missionaries.

Father Gary entered the Capuchin minor seminary at Herman, Pa., following his graduation in 1939 from St. Joseph's Parochial School, Midland. He later studied at the Capuchin Novitiate which was then located at the local monastery, and completed his studies for the priesthood at Victoria, Kan., and Washington.

Ordained in Pittsburgh, Father Gary sang his first solemn mass at St. Peter and Paul Church. Since his ordination, his assignments in the order have included being a professor in the minor seminary, assistant to the Promoter of Vocations and as procurator at both St. Conrad Friary, Annapolis, and Capuchin College, Washington.

Brother Claude joined the Capuchin Order in 1933 and made his first profession of vows two years later. For the next eight years he was stationed at the local monastery, after which he was transferred to the Capuchin College to supervise several improvement projects.

In 1950, Brother Claude was transferred to the newly-acquired St. Conrad Friary in order to supervise the remodeling of the house into a suitable novitiate friary. Later, when a building program was planned for the theology house in Washington, Brother Claude was returned there as technical advisor to the superiors.

Father Gregory, the third Capuchin friar assigned to the New Guinea mission, only recently completed his studies at Capuchin College and his appointment is his first in the order.

Rustlers Hunted

BRISBANE, Sept. 13 (AP)—Police are hunting thieves in what may be Australia's biggest cattle raid of the century. The thieves drove off 800 bullocks pastured on a lonely 40,000-acre property in western Queensland. The cattle were worth $44,000 slaughtered. In 1870 another gang of thieves got away with 1,000 head, driving the herd 1,500 miles overland to Adelaide.

House Trailer Ordinance Is Planned Here

A proposed ordinance preventing or restricting the location of house trailers in Cumberland will probably be one of the main topics of discussion at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

It is understood that the council has informally agreed to consider an ordinance of this type.

The matter first came up in the regular session of August 26 when William H. Buchholz, commissioner of streets and public property, brought up the subject.

He said on the matter of protection of the residents of this city "We are getting a considerable amount of house trailers," and he made a motion that the city attorney draw up the necessary ordinance to protect residents from them.

This motion died for the want of a second, but the idea did not die. Since that time, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan has collected a number of ordinances passed by other municipalities restricting house trailers.

Finan pointed out at the August 26 meeting that the standing order is that no permits are being issued for trailers.

He added that under the zoning ordinance, they are allowed in commercial areas, but not in residential sections.

Buchholz declared that he thought there should be protection from a sanitary standpoint in commercial areas. Finan replied that those now located in commercial zones are attached to sewers. Trailers used for dwellings in Cumberland are taxed as personal property and not real estate, a city official pointed out.

There is a school of thought among municipal authorities that when they are made permanent dwellings they should face the same regulations and taxes as houses.

Some cities allow them only in camps, or special zones. Others prevent any from locating.

But at any rate, it now appears that Cumberland will have some kind of ordinance governing these homes-on-wheels.

accidental death and dismemberment claims were $3,064, employee surgical claims were $2,944.50, dependent medical claims were $2,460, and employee medical claims were $1,291.

Collections from the participating transportation firms was $121,232.38. Premiums paid totaled $107,445.39, reserves are $8,184.74.

Over 460 feet of four-inch water line is being laid at the same time, and will make city water available for new homes which may be built in this subdivision in the future.

Two dwellings are now under construction on the west side of High Street, on the site of the old reservoir owned by the Spriggs Water Company.

Michael Miller Renamed Head East End Group

Playground Plans For Year Outlined

FROSTBURG — Michael Miller was re-elected Wednesday for a two-year term as president of the East End Playground Association.

Other officers named were George Render, vice president; Mrs. Graham Truly, treasurer, and Mrs. John Drummond, secretary. Elected to the board of directors were G. Franklin Martens, Mrs. Godfrey Stott, Render, Mrs. Drummond and Mrs. Truly.

Business discussed included the completion of three major projects for the past summer. The wading pool was enlarged and made deeper, a concrete storage room was erected adjoining the music box building and a roof was started for the stage. The group plans, however, to try to complete the last project before winter. General repairs to buildings and equipment and painting were done. Work for the projects is donated by parents and friends.

The storage of movable equipment will take place in the near future, but the playground will be open for the children to use for recreational purposes throughout the winter. Holidays are usually observed with an outdoor party such as a wiener roast, trimming of a Christmas tree and carol singing and others.

The final item of business was the changing of the regular meeting night from the first Thursday of each month to the first Wednesday. The next meeting will be held at the home of the president, Miller. Meeting places will be announced each month.

'Watch Out Or We'll Lose' Mood Noted At GOP Rally

By BOB CONSIDINE

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13 (INS)—Republican leaders devoured enough free fried chicken, ham, baked beans, potato salad and ice cream at Ike's farm the other day—at the pep rally—to feed all of Gen. Pickett's men before the charge they made across these hallowed fields 93 years ago.

It was like an old Currier and Ives print of a farm picnic which might have been captioned "plenty." The loudspeakers bayed pleasant chants. The black Angus stood like picture cattle in their neighboring pasture, and the vigorous 65-year-old President, called by Len Hall "the greatest living citizen of the modern world," stood beaming from a flag-draped rostrum. He won an ovation by saying, with brimming confidence, "I feel fine!"

But the whole mood of the fine show was, "Watch out! This is too good to last, unless we get out and work like the dickens!"

The theme of the GOP campaign, if this kick-off party is a criterion, will be roughly this:

1.—Peace, progress, prosperity, full employment and other current "plus" factors of the American scene can be maintained only by Ike's reelection.

2.—The country will enter into an even greater era, under the Party of the Future, if voters elect a GOP Congress and a majority of governors.

3.—Like, and the "team," will lose—with perhaps appalling results here and abroad—unless all Republicans register and vote and each becomes a missionary bent on converting Independents, non-voters and "discerning Democrats."

There were, of course, voices of vibrant optimism. A bald man named Charles K. McWhorter, head of the Young Republicans, spoke of victory in November through the combined efforts of other youths like himself. Morton H. Hollingsworth, of Illinois, threatened a dire political end for Adlai Stevenson in the nominee's state and others.

Wellington Rankin, Montana, said Ike positively would win the 11 states of the Pacific slope. William Shartzer, Georgia, predicted rousing success in the South because "the Democratic platform doublecrossed the South on civil rights."

But the President took his mood from Mrs. Dorothy Houghton, co-chairman of the National Citizens for Eisenhower. Mrs. Houghton's general theme was that it's going to be one heck of a fight this time. "Remember the Maine," she cried, then added, "we could well have that as our slogan today. Remember the Maine as of Monday, where the stay-at-home vote got out and the Independent vote put in those Democrats." The President said that a lesson could be drawn from what happened in Maine, which reelected a Democratic governor and sent to Congress its first Democrat since 1934.

As the Republicans chawed their victuals, their leader eschewed the special table that had been set for him under the big tent and wandered down to the end to sit with folks he didn't know. All agreed it made him a man of the people more than ever. But they were counseled before leaving that the people won't vote for this man of the people, however lovable, unless prodded.

But Ike was not cast in the role of pessimist, as he began his war on his party's complacency and sounded his trumpet for new troops. He urged his fellow Republican missionaries to greet each prospect with a smile and not to dwell on problems which might besiege the Grand Old Party. This led one press tent pundit to begin his story:

Oh, let a smile be your umbrella On a Maine, Maine, Maine day. (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Dr. Zimmerman Received Into Medical Group

Dr. Charles C. Zimmerman of this city was inducted as a fellow of the International College of Surgeons at a convocation yesterday at 7 p. m. at the Civic Opera House, Chicago.

One of the few surgeons in this area to be elected for the International Fellowship, Dr. Zimmerman was approved as a fellow in the American College of Surgeons in 1938.

Only one other surgeon in this area, Dr. Alexander Solosko, of Salisbury, and Meyersdale, Pa., is known to be a fellow in the International College at present.

In Cumberland, the late Dr. Frank Wilson was a member, and Dr. Lewis Brings is an associate member. Several other local doctors are qualified to receive the mark of honor, it is reported, although Dr. Zimmerman is the first to be accepted and inducted.

The idea of the international body was conceived by Dr. Max Thorek, of Chicago, and founded by him in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1935. The college is dedicated to the increase and dissemination of surgical knowledge through international cooperation.

And although the title uses the word, the organization is not strictly a surgical society. Its program, as carried in the ICS constitution, is dedicated to perpetual education and scientific advancement and emphasizes scientific progress and understanding.

The degree, members of the medical profession explained, is a mark of honor contingent upon high standards of surgical competence and professional and perpetual ethics.

The Suez Problem And U. N. Action

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles is reported to be weakening in his opposition to taking the Suez dispute to the United Nations Security Council. Earlier he had been firmly opposed to submitting the question to the international body and the recently proposed canal users association may put an end to it.

But even while opposing U.N. discussion, more than a month ago, Dulles had on August 7 held a briefing session for 20 Latin American ambassadors. The subject was not announced but Dulles was said to be trying to insure support if the Suez Canal matter did come before the council.

The importance of Latin American support for the Western position is obvious. In its note of August 9, Soviet Russia did not mention the Panama Canal by name. But it did say that "other straits and waterways" should be of international concern and should be discussed in the U.N.

However, Panama has taken issue with the United States over interpretations of the basic bilateral treaties. On August 29, Alberto Boyd, Panama's foreign minister, challenged a statement by Dulles to the effect that the treaty of 1903 had given the U. S. the equivalent of sovereignty in the Canal Zone.

On September 9, President Nasser of Egypt said his country was still willing "to negotiate a peaceful solution in conformity with the purpose and principles of the United Nations." About a month ago it was thought that Egypt, not Britain or France, might take the dispute to the Security Council. But Nasser on August 12 told a press conference, "I would find them" — Britain and France — "also there in the Security Council."

The Egyptian government apparently does not want to bring the dispute to the U.N. on its own initiative because it does not want to admit, at least tacitly, that the Suez is an international concern. Also, even before Nasser's nationalization of the canal on July 26, Egypt had for almost five years been ignoring a Security Council request to lift its blockade of shipping to Israel.

These Days

A Point Of View

Paul Hoffman of the Fund for the Republic delivered a most interesting address on how to keep America strong and free. In effect, it is a defense of the Fund for the Republic and its work, but what Hoffman says is of value because it explains how different men can believe that they are aiming at the same target while actually each believes that the other has missed altogether.

Hoffman's contention is that he and his Fund for the Republic are fighting communism. Most active and long-time anti-Communists would say that both Hoffman and his fund are running interference for the Communists. To that Hoffman has replied, in advance, as follows:

"When I left the ECA in the fall of 1950 to join the Ford Foundation, I took a look at what was going on in America in the name of fighting Communism—I was shocked and appalled. In too many instances I found the Bill of Rights being trampled upon, freedom of speech and inquiry being flouted and guilt by association replacing due process of law. People labeled as controversial were being denied the use of public auditoriums. Irresponsible publicity seekers were accusing everyone who did not agree with their methods of fighting Communists of being soft on communism . . ."

It is all in the point of view. If the target is the same, namely, the elimination of communism from American life, the difference arises to a degree from the difference in experience. It would be of value to read a bill of particulars on how the Bill of Rights were trampled upon. Who did the trampling?

The phrase, the Bill of Rights, appears nowhere in our Constitution but it generally refers to the first 10 amendments, which are no more important than any other clauses of the Constitution. The Constitution has to be taken as a whole and for a correct study of it, it is necessary to read a good many of the decisions of the Supreme Court which not only explain the meaning of the phraseology but often so define and orient the law as to become part of the Constitution itself. This is particularly true of the decisions of Chief Justice John Marshall who had the task of pioneering in judicial interpretation.

All this being so, it would be interesting to know precisely what Hoffman meant when he said that freedom of speech and inquiry were "being flouted." I do not know of an instance of a Communist speaker being arrested for making a Communist speech or of an inquiry into any field of human knowledge being what Hoffman calls "flouted." The reply might be that everybody knows what Paul Hoffman means, but hearsay is not knowledge. On the other hand, I think that I could without difficulty produce a list of anti-Communists who have lost the opportunity to be heard. Maybe they lacked in ability, but it is singular that so many of them should have been discarded.

The whole matter of "guilt by association" is again a question of legalistic interpretation. Paul Hoffman himself uses the phrase in this speech, "Communist conspiracy in the United States." A conspiracy cannot be conducted by one man alone. A conspiracy, to be such in the eyes of the law, involves two or more persons in association to do something which they should not do. Therefore, if there is a conspiracy, it is necessary to have conspirators. Every conspiracy involves guilt by consorting. In municipal law, for instance, in some places, the police are empowered to arrest one for consorting with a known criminal.

If therefore one associates constantly with Communists, it is possible to say that the person has a reason for preferring them, for consorting with them. Association with a Communist is no crime, but it discloses a preference and creates a reason for doubt and even wonderment.

Paul Hoffman, in his speech, said: " . . . Only a handful of maladjusted, tormented, rebellious Americans ever subscribed to the weird Marxist ideology."

I only wish that were true. Marxian ideas are not in 1956 as weird as they appeared to be in 1917. They have worked their way into many fields of intellectual activity, particularly the concept of man being a product of his environment, of the tools he uses. This basic Marxian idea has moved far into much of the life of the world in 1956.

Maine Indicates Apathy GOP's Biggest Handicap

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Congressional elections are "local except when a president is running in the same election."

This was the comment which the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt used to make about congressional elections in off-years, and the point applies equally to the Maine election this week when the voters were confined solely to the election of members of Congress and governor. No president of either party has been able to transfer his popularity to local candidates. They must stand on their own merits.

But it would be a mistake for the Republican leaders nationally to fail to read the most dangerous factor for them which stands out so clearly in the main result. It is apathy. The apathy by Republicans is far greater than had been imagined, while the Democrats, on the other hand, due to intensive organization work, did get out their vote and more in Maine.

Unanswered Question
The Maine election can be analyzed by the partisans to suit themselves, but the big unanswered question is this:

Why did the Republican candidate for governor poll only about 11,000 more votes than he did two years ago, and why did the Democratic candidate poll 45,000 more votes than in 1954—and where did these extra 45,000 votes come from?

Certainly Governor Muskie, the re-elected Democrat, didn't subtract any votes from the Republican nominee, who actually increased his vote over 1954. Then are not the 45,000 new votes for the Democratic party a recruitment from the stay-at-home vote of the two major parties and the "independents"?

There have been unofficial estimates that in Maine the Republicans registered this year about 270,000 and the Democrats 100,000, and that the balance of the registered vote of 130,000 "independent."

Thus, out of the reservoir of 270,000 Republican votes, the Republican nominee for governor polled this time less than half. The Democratic nominee, on the other hand, must have received not only the 100,000 Democratic votes but 81,000 out of the "independent" column or from the state-at-home voters of other years for him to get a total of 181,000 votes—the highest ever polled in Maine by any candidate of either party for governor.

It would be easy to say that all this was due to Muskie's great popularity and that his slogan "one good term deserves another" accounted for the result, but that's an argument the Republicans are making nationally—that like is popular and that "one good term deserves another."

This argument, moreover, does not account for the way the congressional races developed. For in the three congressional districts the same apathy by Republicans is noticeable, whereas there was a considerable increase in voting strength on the Democratic side.

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Boer

The Republicans see things different from the Democrats because keyholes are not bifocal. If everybody pulled the same way a dentist would never get a tooth out.

Back in 1952 we wondered if the Republicans could save enough from Democratic curiosity to start an investigation of their own.

Tobey, Halley and Kefauver were investigating everything that crept, crawled or commuted. The reason we haven't gandered any televised quizzations in four years is because Sam Rayburn killed 'em deadlier than insects in amber.

At that time we figured Sam suspected Congress was going Republican. Kefauver had milked televi-

Indicates Ike Will Win

Thus, in the First Congressional District, which was close, the two candidates had about 58,000 votes each. The Republican vote in 1952 was 56,239 and in 1954 it was 47,327. So it is apparent that the Republican nominee this time picked up nearly a couple thousand votes over and above the 1952 total, and nearly 11,000 over his 1954 count. But, meanwhile, the Democratic nominee went from 35,087 in 1952 to 43,561 in 1954 and now to 58,000. Where did these extra Democratic votes come from except from Democrats or Republicans or "independents" who chose not to vote in either 1952 or 1954?

In the Second Congressional District the story is the same. The Republican, James L. Reid, got about 48,700 this time, which is larger than the 45,819 Republican vote in 1954, whereas the successful Democratic nominee, Frank M. Coffin, pushed the Democratic total up from 39,075 in 1954 to about so often the Senate was seated on three-legged stools.

That weapon in the hands of a Republican administration would be as deadly as a Borgia recipe for mushrooms under glass.

But we should do something about it. There should be an investigation to discover why there is no investigation.

There for a while we thought the committee would go in for summer stock.

We like to read about and look at the political conventions. Why don't we get a full children's hour of law-making?

Artificial Kidney Helpful In Preventing Uremia

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The kidneys are stubborn and when they refuse to work, we can do little about it. Many remedies have been advocated but the artificial kidney is the only helpful procedure to date. On occasion, it has been a life-saver.

The kidneys eliminate many toxic and noxious agents; should these organs fall down on the job, the harmful products accumulate in the body. This leads to uremia which, if it continues, causes death. Temporary failure of the kidneys follows infections, poisoning, and shock.

Unless the irritation and obstruction are relieved within a reasonable time, waste products pile up in the blood and the patient is in danger of uremia. Here is where the artificial kidney enters the picture.

One end of the machine is connected to an artery in the right or left arm and the other end to the corresponding vein. This allows a continuous flow of blood through the apparatus, which removes the toxic materials, thereby mimicking the work of the kidneys. As soon as the ailing kidneys recover, the device is unstuffed, cleaned and put away for another emergency.

The artificial kidney is the result of many years of research. Different types are available but the basic principle is the same. The patient's blood goes through a long cellophane tube that is surrounded by a special chemical solution. Since the cellophane is a semi-permeable membrane, certain crystalloids of microscopic size can pass through it.

These substances include the poisons that usually are eliminated by the kidneys and therein lies the value of the machine. In this respect, the blood is purified as it passes through the tube and the clear, filtered liquid that is left becomes artificial urine and is discarded.

But other chemicals such as the salicylates, thiocyanates, bromides, and some barbiturates also are capable of seeping through the cellophane membrane; consequently, the apparatus can be used in the treatment of drug poisoning. In fact, the artificial kidney removes more poisons from the blood in an hour than the real kidneys can do in a day. Since time is an important element in the treatment of severe poisoning, such as from an overdose of sleeping pills, the machine is employed as a life-saving measure in this emergency.

Nasser Spends Millions On Weapons But Little To Help Egypt's Masses

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson today writes his first column from the Near East. Others will follow shortly.)

NAHARIA, Galilee—In this part of the world where passions run as deep as the wells which search for water in desert sands, the biggest puzzle in the minds of diplomats, including Americans, is how the U. S. State Department got sucked into believing that Gamel Abdel Nasser was the great pal of the U.S.A.

Certainly, until six months ago, this was the contention of Hank Byroade, the svelte, usually able U.S. ambassador to Egypt, and of Loy Henderson, the deputy under-secretary detailed to argue with Nasser in Cairo, and of Herbert Hoover Jr., his superior, and of John Foster Dulles, the superior of all three.

They believed that Colonel Nasser was a trusted friend of the United States, pushed at times by Egyptian extremists toward Russia to be sure, but devotedly anxious to lift up the disease-torn masses of Egypt and line up his country with the West. Dulles, Henderson, Hoover, Byroades, et al., not only believed this but were so firmly convinced that they painstakingly and patiently tried to sell the idea to the British. They were even hurt, puzzled and irritated when the British refused 100 per cent to believe.

England's Split Policy

To some extent the British did believe; but their belief resulted not so much from American persuasion but from the split policy of the British Foreign Office which always plays part of the empire's poker chips on the Arabs, part on the non-Arabs in the Middle East.

The British knew at least in a general sort of way, that while Colonel Nasser was sweet-talking them, his agents were undermining the empire all over Africa and Asia. They were stirring up trouble in British Somaliland, inciting revolt in Tanaganyika, contriving to get Glubb Pasha kicked out of Jordan as head of the Arab Legion, trying to woo King Saud of Saudi Arabia away from the West and sabotaging the defense alliance with pro-British Iraq.

All this time the handsome and charming Gamel Abdel Nasser was talking big about helping the down-trodden Egyptian people, about putting across the Eric Johnston agreement for irrigating the River Jordan, and about his general friendship with the West.

But while he was sweet-talking he was also accusing or letting his own government spokesmen accuse the United States of sending diseased chickens into Egypt under the Point 4 program in order to contaminate Egyptian chickens. He was accusing the United States of conspiring to take over the Near East. And while spending several hundred millions on arms, he spent hardly a dollar to uplift the masses of Egypt.

In Suez, in Alexandria, in Cairo today, the narrow streets and alleyways are still lined with children and beggars, sleeping in the gutters, the flies swarming over the trachoma pus that courses down their cheeks and is spread, from child to child, by the flies until blindness in Egypt is greater than perhaps any place in the world.

U.S. Diplomats Can't See

Nevertheless, American diplomats refused to believe.

On October 14, 1955, almost a year ago, the Cairo Radio proclaimed: "Justice and logic require that we now defend Russia and attack America, which has shown falsehood, deceit and ill-will."

On October 2, 1955, Al-Ahram, the Cairo daily, proclaimed "America with all its millions and billions cannot win the heart of Egypt with diseased Point 4 chicks. . . . Nor can America win the heart of Egypt with cheese, condensed milk, etc., which we know she is interested in getting rid of. America cannot win the heart of Egyptians with her worthless colored posters in which she attacks communism while she herself is not a democratic country."

On October 11, 1955, also a year ago, the Cairo Radio proclaimed: "American weapons provide the basic channel for the penetration of American influence. The Americans, therefore, invented what they called the Mutual Security Pact. They offered it to miserable nations forced by circumstances to arm, and they innocently say to them: 'All you have to do is sign this pact and American weapons will pour into your country without costing you a single cent.'"

On December 13, 1955, Cairo Radio proclaimed: "In Turkey there is backwardness which has been made so through American aid. . . . Where is the prosperity enjoyed by Turkey after having received dozens of millions from its friend, the United States? . . . The aid and loans crisis are the outcome of the policy pursued by Turkey. American loans are subject to conditions serving the interests of the United States. Only on that basis are loans granted."

No Friend, He

Meanwhile Egypt was still accepting aid from the United States, military and otherwise, and wanting more. In fact, it was because the United States finally declined aid to build the Aswan Dam that Nasser shouted "Let them choke on their own fury!" and seized the Suez Canal. Meanwhile American diplomats were still arguing that Colonel Nasser was the friend of the United States.

As far back as January 10, 1955, Al-Tahrir, official newspaper of the military junta that put Nasser in power, accused the U.S.A. of having helped assassinate the president of Panama, Jose Antonio Remon, and also in plotting against Nasser's life.

That was how little Colonel Nasser and his group loved the U.S.A., 18 months ago.

These were published warnings which anyone could hear or read. It didn't take a professional diplomat with 20 years of training to know Nasser was not the smiling friend of the West that he professed to be.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Vienna is gay again. As in days of yore much dancing prevails. But nobody waltzes in Vienna any more. The favorite dances there are the tango, mambo and rumba. There is a higher percentage of beautiful, gay and affectionate females in Vienna than in any other European city. The Viennese beauties are on the tall side. Average height is 5 feet 5 without heels. Average measurements are 32-24-37. A girl with measurements like that usually makes a very interesting armful.

HORSES AND WOMEN

Many a true word is spoken in jest. I don't know who said that first, but how right he was! Take that hilarious comedy titled "The Solid Gold Cadillac." It is about women stockholders harassing the management of a corporation. Well, sir, the fact is that right now many feminine shareholders are actually doing that very thing. At one recent stockholders meeting over a thousand women were on hand. They ran the management ragged with a wide variety of questions. Some of them very curious. On the other hand, some queries were quite intelligent and had a tendency to put the men in charge very much on their toes.

OVER THERE

Gasoline is extremely high priced in Europe. In many countries it is as high as 80 cents a gallon. Some smart travelers are touring Europe in three-wheeler type motor cars that can travel 80 miles on a gallon. Others are going even farther than that to be thrifty. They are traveling on scooters that get 140 miles to a gallon. These scooters can do 45 miles an hour. So those using them get around all right.

PLAYWRITING

Have you any desire to become a playwright? How about your son or daughter? Anyway, all those with playwrighting ambitions should read the remarkable book titled "Dramatic Technique" by George Pierce Baker. As you may know, Prof. Baker was the teacher of many of our greatest modern playwrights including Philip Barry, Robert E. Sherwood, George Abbot, Eugene O'Neill, Edward Sheldon, Sidney Howard and S. N. Behrman.

TRAVELER

Edgar Bergen, the versatile ventriloquist, really mingled with some interesting people on his recent European tour. At Monte Carlo he had lunch with Greta Garbo. They carried on an animated conversation in Swedish. Also, when at Monte Carlo, Edgar dined with Prince Rainier and Her Serene Highness Princess Grace. It seems that Rainier has long been a Charlie McCarthy fan.

AMONG THE MARRIED

Those who have been one of a large family are usually top grade matrimonial risks according to the experts on life among the married. An interesting angle to this situation is that those who have been members of large families usually have small families when they marry.

OLD TIMER

For antique automobiles, Robert Harrison of Bury, Quebec, drives a 1904 Reo. He recently drove this 52-year-old car on a 600-mile trip to Boston. The antique bus made 25 miles an hour and averaged 30 miles to a gallon of gas.

BRIEFLY

Men in their middle forties are being discriminated against by some employers because of their allegedly advanced age. Yet recent research reveals that the average age of the most efficient factory workers is 47. . . . How many cups of tea does your wife get from a pound of tea? Should be 150 cups. That's what Sir Thomas Lipton claimed.

Three Egyptians have been barred from the annual English Channel swimming race. Guess they'll have to confine their padding to the Suez Canal.

Cro-Magnon Man lived from 25,000 to 10,000 B. C., say archeologists. He was kind of hard to get rid of, wasn't he?

The disputed island of Cyprus, according to historians, was either owned or claimed at various times by the Egyptians, Greeks, Assyrians, Persians, Romans, Turks and British. What we'd like to know is, who got there first.

A hailstorm covered the ground with two inches of ice at the Equator in Africa. And we think the weather here is unpredictable!

A dispatch from Germany tells of a fellow over there who owns a model railroad consisting of 34 locomotives, hundreds of cars and 12,000 feet of track. So far, we understand, he hasn't tried to absorb the Pennsylvania or the New York Central.

Our guess is that San Morino can thank its size for its longevity. For 16 centuries Europe's bully boys were so busy knocking each other around they naturally overlooked such a midget innocent bystander.

Summer is about over and Zadok Dumkopf still hasn't gotten up enough nerve to wear the dazzling sports shirt he bought last May.

A British men's clothing industry magazine applauds the Duke of Kent for wearing plaid britches with a morning coat, at a toasty formal wedding. "Quite original!" beams the mag. Guess you can get away with that stuff — if you're the Duke of Kent.

Supper Stars Waffle Trick

Every home has a Sunday night supper that has a charm all its own. In some families the children are responsible for the preparation and in others the whole family joins in the frivolity of this creative experiment.

Waffles lend a light note to this Sunday supper. Variations to satisfy all tastes are numerous. The batter is easily prepared. This recipe is one so easy that children can prepare it by themselves. Made with lard, these waffles contain a richness and flavor that is hard to top. Lard also adds nutritive value.

Waffles
2 cups sifted enriched flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated

1 1/2 cups milk
6 tablespoons melted lard
1/2 cup sugar, if desired
Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add egg yolks and milk and beat thoroughly. Add melted lard. Beat egg whites and fold into batter. Yield: 6-8 inch waffles.

As a variation add 1/4 cup chopped crisp bacon or 1/4 cup chopped nuts to the batter before baking. For a novel idea, serve honey butter as a spread for the waffles. As a dessert, spread waffles with cream cheese and crushed sweetened fresh peaches, raspberries or strawberries.

Mix drained hot spinach with thick French dressing and mayonnaise; pack into custard cups and chill. Serve on lettuce as a salad.

Do-It-Yourself Popsicles

When you prepare those farm-fresh strawberries, peaches, raspberries and other fruits for freezing this summer, try making "small fry" popsicles from part of the fruit. Freeze the fruit pop-sicles in gelatin or popsicle molds, inserting a handle just before the fruit is entirely hard. Remember to remove the mold or freezer paper before turning Junior loose on the concoction.

LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Fried Shrimp

2 eggs
1/4 cup enriched flour
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Shortening for deep frying

Shell, then de-vein shrimp, leaving tails on. Beat eggs well; add water; beat in flour, salt and pepper. Add shrimp and stir to coat well. ## Casserole Chicken

If the summer barbecue season, chicken, sprinkle with flour, and has you less than enthusiastic for another helping of charcoaled chicken, try a change of pace with this tasty combination that also uses some of the summer vegetables that are currently abundant.

You'll need 4 to 5 pounds of chicken—either one large fryer or two smaller ones—cut into parts. For the vegetables, use 3 or 4 carrots, a bunch of celery, an onion, and a green pepper. And have ready some flour, one cup of milk, one cup of hot water, fat for browning the chicken, salt and pepper.

Season the cut-up pieces of fat, mix an equal quantity of flour and add with the cup of milk to the contents of the casserole. Cook for about 10 minutes longer, season to taste, and replace the pieces of chicken in the sauce, and serve directly from the casserole.

French Fried Potatoes

(Serves 6-8)

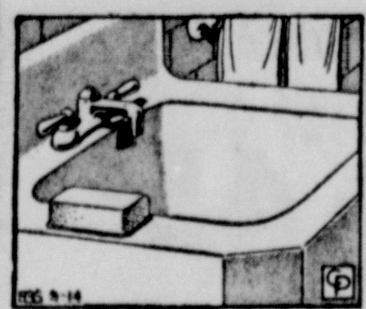

3 pounds potatoes shortening for deep frying

Cut pared potatoes into 1/4" strips or laticed slices. Soak in cold water. Drain and dry potatoes thoroughly.

Fry in deep shortening heated to 365°F. (or when an inch cube of bread browns in 60 seconds). Fry potatoes a few at a time, until thoroughly cooked and browned, 8 to 10 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper.

Serving roast duck? Carve the breast into thin slices and serve with a drumstick or a second joint to each person. Nice for four.

WIFE PRESERVER

Don't forget to be sure that there is a good, usable cake of soap for the wash basin, bathtub and the shower. This is a small job frequently overlooked.

Creamy Milk Shakes

Needn't Be Fattening

If you love thick, creamy milk shakes, but dislike what they do to your waistline, there is a way today you can have your cake and eat it too, so to speak. At least you can indulge in an occasional chocolate milk shake without fear of adding unwanted pounds.

A new chocolate milk shake mix, can be prepared with dry skim milk and water instead of whole milk if you prefer. All you do is reconstitute the dry milk, using 3 to 4 tablespoons dry skim milk per 1 cup cold water and substitute it for the whole milk called for in the directions. Your homemade milk shake will be as thick and smooth and taste as rich as the one at the corner soda fountain although an 8 ounce glass will contain no more than 89 calories.

Spice Of Life

You can enjoy fresh-from-the-garden seasonings all year-round—even in winter months—if you freeze fresh herbs now.

Wrap a few sprigs of mint, parsley, chervil, marjoram, thyme and other herbs in freezer foil or paper, and combine all of the papers in a freezer bag or carton to store as a breeze in your home freezer for future use.

Mushroom And Egg Sauce

(Makes about 2-1/2 cups)
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
4 tablespoons butter
1 (3-oz.) can sliced mushrooms, drained
2 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of black pepper
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Saute fresh mushrooms in butter in small skillet. Pour liquefied instant Starlac nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater just until blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in mushrooms and eggs. Serve over cooked asparagus spears, broccoli or spinach, or over ham steak or sliced tongue.

Cucumber Salad

Cucumbers have been type-casted in supporting roles for tossed salad productions. But the cucumber turns in an award-winning performance as the star of a Gelatin cucumber salad. The dish is as cool in your home freezer for future use.

Use 1 package lime-flavored gelatin.

atin; 1 1/2 cups water; 1 tablespoon vinegar; 1 teaspoon minced onion; 1/2 teaspoon salt; dash of pepper; dash of paprika; 1 cucumber, finely chopped.

Dissolve the gelatin in water according to package directions. Add the vinegar and seasonings, and chill. When the mixture has thickened slightly, add the cucumbers. Turn into a square pan or individual salad molds and chill until firm.

Serve on lettuce with salad dressing, if desired. (4 to 6 servings.)

Combine one each of 12-ounce can-chilled orange soft, cola soft drink and lemon-lime soft drink. This makes 4 1/2 cups. Fill pineapple halves or serve in pretty punch bowl with flower decorations.

Hot Tuna And Cheese Sandwich Summer Lunch

Summertime is Tuna Time and June is Beef Month. And there is the inspiration for tomorrow's luncheon menu. Hot Tuna Fish Sandwiches, suggested by the New Hampshire Extension Service, combine the plentiful foods of the day into one easy and delicious dish.

To make 6 servings, use 1 (7-ounce) can tuna fish; 3 tablespoons mayonnaise; 2 tablespoons minced onion; 12 slices bread; 1½ cups grated cheddar cheese; 3 eggs; 3 cups milk; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; 1 teaspoon salt.

Mix together tuna fish, mayonnaise, and minced onion. Spread on 6 slices of bread, cover with remaining slices, and fit into a casserole. Top with half the grated cheese.

Beat eggs until light, stir in milk, Worcestershire sauce, and salt. Pour over sandwiches. Let stand for thirty minutes if bread is stale.

Bake in moderate oven (350°) for about 40 minutes, then add remaining cheese and bake until puffy and golden brown, 5 to 10 minutes. Garnish with green peas.

Try using many lights of relatively low wattage rather than a few of large wattage for lighting the patio or garden. The low lights contrast pleasantly against the darkness, where a very bright light may generate an unpleasant glare.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"We DON'T spend every cent you make! We never even SEE all that money the government takes out first."

Try Creamed Beef With Oriental Twist For Quick Main Dish

A main dish that needs little last minute fussing is a boon to cooks on busy days. Creamed beef over quick cooking rice has this quality of being easy to prepare, although it may seem too insubstantial for hearty dinner fare.

If so, just add some drained mixed Chinese vegetables. A medley of these canned vegetables including water chestnuts, bamboo shoots, mushrooms, bean sprouts, and sweet red peppers, come already packed in cans.

Oriental Creamed Beef

To make six servings prepare 2 cups of medium white sauce, omitting the salt. Add a 4 ounce package of shredded, dried beef and heat slowly about 5 minutes. Stir in 1 cup of well drained, Chinese mixed vegetables and continue cooking slowly about 5 minutes longer, or just until heated through. Add ½ teaspoon soy sauce. Serve over hot, cooked rice.

Fried Chicken Deluxe

(Serves 4-6)

1 frying chickens cut in pieces
2 eggs
1½ cups milk
½ cup melted shortening
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
shortening for deep frying

Steam chickens 15 to 20 minutes. Beat eggs with milk and add melted shortening. Add sifted dry ingredients. Beat until smooth. Salt chickens and then dip into batter. Fry in deep fat heated to 365°F. (or until an inch cube of bread browns in 60 seconds). Fry until golden brown, about 7 to 10 minutes. Drain on paper toweling and place in warm oven (250°F.) to keep warm.

Frosty Finish

For a final touch to your summer drinks, put a frosty rim on your glasses. Pour lemon juice into a saucer about ¼ inch deep. Sift about the same amount of powdered sugar onto a piece of waxed paper. Dip the glass, first in the lemon juice, then in the sugar, and chill it quickly in your food freezer. Serve your drinks when the "frost" has set.

Call Of The Outdoors

The fun of doing, the tantalizing aroma, the heavenly taste—that's the allure of outdoor cooking. Dust off the outdoor fireplace, or set up the portable grill. Then bring on the food, and get set for the big doings.

Be sure to remember the first rule of outdoor cooking — let the fire burn down to a glowing bed of hot coals before starting.

If you find the grill or grate hard to keep clean, try this suggestion of the Connecticut Extension Service. Use aluminum foil to protect the grill and the food from ashes or rust. Take a double thickness of foil about the same size as the grate, and punch plenty of holes in it. Turn the foil over so that the punched-out edges stick upward. Then lay the steaks on the perforated foil and broil them to a handsome brown color—rare, medium, or well-done, as you like. Turn the steaks only once.

For something exciting and different in the way of picnic fare, try BEEF KABOBS. You don't need a recipe. Just cut the meat into inch-size chunks, and stock an assortment of mushrooms, onions, tomatoes, and what-have-you. Spear the ingredients alternately on metal skewers or long green sticks (about ¼ inch thick) and broil over hot coals until done. Everybody can get into the act and do their own cooking.

Here's a kabob combination you might like to try:

To make 4 servings, use 1 pound sirloin steak, cut in 1½ inch cubes; 2 cups French dressing; ½ pound fresh mushrooms, stemmed; 2 onions, quartered; 2 tomatoes, quartered; 2 green peppers, cut in squares.

Let the cubes of meat stand in the French dressing for several hours in the refrigerator. Then alternate cubes of meat, mushrooms, onions, and peppers on skewers and broil with French dressing. Broil until done—anywhere from 15 to 30 minutes.

Mix orange marmalade and chopped raisins and use as a filling for small turnovers made from scraps of pastry left after rolling out pie dough.

Mahoney Hits Republican 'Tight Money' Policies

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—George P. Mahoney said today the Republican Administration's "tight money" policy will mean 525 million dollars in "extra interest" to be paid on home and farm mortgages taken out in the last two years.

Mahoney, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, gave this breakdown in a press statement: "Veterans who bought homes on GI mortgages during the last two years will pay 350 million dollars in extra interest."

"Farm mortgages made during the past year will bear more than 100 million dollars extra interest."

"Home buyers who obtained FHA mortgages during the past two years will pay 75 million dollars extra interest."

Mahoney, who issued the statement before leaving for a campaign headquarters opening in Hyattsville, Md., said also that the "high-interest policy has added 45 million dollars a year to the cost of automobiles purchased on the installment plan."

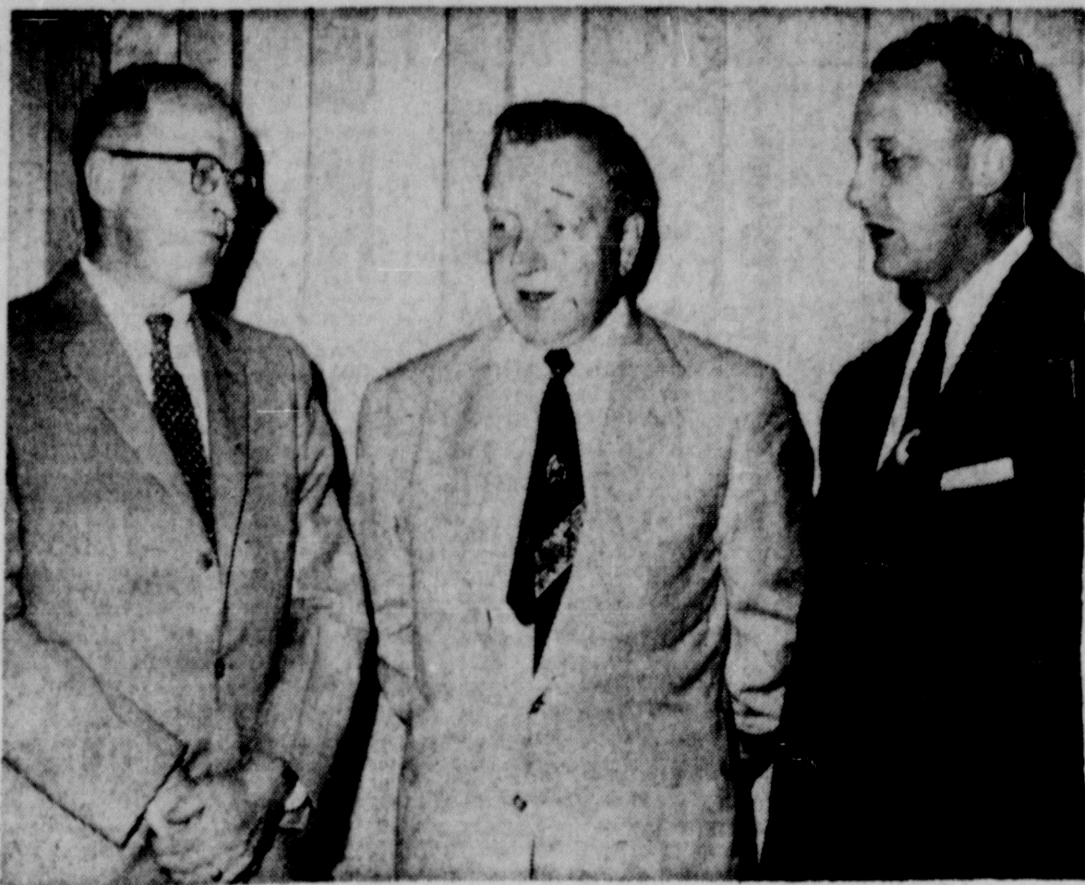

"For nearly four years," said Mahoney, "it has been the deliberate policy of the government to drive up interest rates."

Mahoney said he was issuing the statement to explain "what I had in mind when I told Gov. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver in New York yesterday that I thought the Republican 'tight money' policies are driving voters to the Democratic Party."

Mahoney and other party leaders met with Presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson and Vice Presidential candidate Kefauver in New York yesterday at a strategy conference of Democrats from the Middle Atlantic States.

Bank Auditors Meet

William R. Carscaden (center) chats with officers of the Cumberland Conference of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers at the group's dinner meeting here Wednesday. At left is G. Morgan Smith of Cumberland, vice president, and J. Joseph Howell, Barton, secretary-treasurer. Luther M. Huff of Grantsville, president, was in Canada when the picture was taken.

Foley To Speak At Labor Group Session Tonight

The Western Maryland campaign to meet with Adlai Stevenson in Washington at 10:30.

John R. Foley, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth Maryland District, was postponed for a day while he prepared to meet with Stevenson today in Washington at 10:30.

After luncheon with the presidential candidate, the Montgomery County man will travel to Cumberland where he will be the center of attraction at a meeting of Allegany County industrial and craft union leaders.

The union leaders will convene at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple to meet Foley and hear him speak to them on his campaign plans and platform.

James A. Dundon, international representative with the Textile Workers Union of America, will also speak in behalf of Foley. Dundon is a former president and organizer of Local 1874, TWUA.

Another segment of labor has given Foley support in his battle against Republican DeWitt S. Hyde.

Van H. Parsons, this city, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen for the Western Maryland Railway system, said the system's legislative board has endorsed the election of Foley and George P. Mahoney.

Wednesday, the Democratic party's candidate in this district attended a meeting of Middle Atlantic State candidates and party leaders with Stevenson in New York City.

Saturday he will campaign in this county.

And Sunday he will speak at the ox roast being sponsored at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club picnic grounds by the Young Democratic Club of Allegany County and the Allegany County Democratic Central Committee.

Foley will appear with George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for Senator; C. Ferdinand Sybert, attorney general of Maryland; Mildred E. Tawes, comptroller general in Maryland, and others.

Fort Hill Launches Grid Season Against LaSalle Tonight

Sentinels Seek 21st Straight Win In Series

Three Tilts In PVC, Romney Is At Home, Keyser At Parsons

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels will open their 1956 football campaign tonight and they'll be favored to extend two winning streaks when they play LaSalle High School at 8 o'clock at the stadium.

LaSalle never has beaten Fort Hill on the gridiron and has dropped 20 consecutive games to teams from the Greenway Avenue school. Fort Hill owns a record of 22 wins and one tie game with the Explorers since the series opened in 1936.

The teams battled to a scoreless tie in 1938. Eleven of Fort Hill's victories have been via the shutout route, including the 1955 contest that ended 43-0.

Coach William P. Hahn's team wound up the 1955 campaign with a winning streak of nine games after dropping the opener to Morgantown High School, 14-7. The Sentinels will be striving to make it ten in a row tonight. In the past Fort Hill has enjoyed two 18-game winning streaks. Allegany holds the local record with a string of 19 in 1941 and 1942.

For LaSalle it will be like jumping from the frying pan into the fire as the Explorers were soundly trounced in the lid-lifter here a week ago by Bedford High School, 35-7.

Three PVC Tilts Listed

Three Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap for today.

Ridgeley, victorious over the Alumni last week, invades Circleville to meet Coach Guy Propst's Indians, who, a week ago, were wallowed by Berkeley Springs High School, 34-7.

Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets will play hosts to Southern High School of Oakland. Both teams opened their campaigns last week. Moorefield was held to a scoreless tie in a non-conference game at Greenbank while the Garrett Countians took a 34-0 thumping from Bill Crites' Petersburg Vikings.

Petersburg visits Romney today to play the West Virginia School for the Deaf in the latter's opening game at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach Wes Abrams' Romney High Panthers kick off the lid today by playing Charles Town High School of Jefferson County at Romney.

Berkeley Springs steps out of the conference to engage Hedgesville at Berkeley and Franklin High School's Panthers, making their debut under Coach Gus Smith, play host to Greenbank.

Keyser Visits Parsons

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Keyser High gridders journeyed to Parsons for a night game with Parsons High School. Parsons took a 19-6 beating at the hands of University High of Morgantown last week while KHS opened the season with a 19-14 decision over the Panthers at Charles Town last Saturday.

Somerset High is slated to play the Bisons at Bedford tonight, Mel Henry's Hagerstown Hubs open with William Penn High at York, Pa., and Morgantown High, the only school to beat Fort Hill last season, invades Martinsburg to night to battle John Coburn's Bulldogs. Martinsburg got off to a good start last weekend by whipping Waynesboro (Pa.) High School to the tune of 31-13.

Beall At AHS Saturday

In games billed for Saturday, Beall High battles Allegany High at the local stadium and the Keyser Jayvees oppose Northern High's Huskies on the Garrett countians' field.

Potomac State College opens its season with Glenville State at the latter place and Fairmont State visits Shepherd College for Saturday tilts. Both are West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic League contests.

Triandos Hits Two Home Runs For Baltimore

Johnson Is Winner Over Cleveland, 4-1

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13 (AP) — A combination of five-hit pitching by Connie Johnson and two home runs by Gus Triandos enabled the Baltimore Orioles to salvage the final of a three-game series as they beat the Cleveland Indians, 4-1, today at Municipal Stadium. The Indians' only run was scored on a homer by Bob Avila.

Johnson struck out nine in winning his eighth game against 10 losses.

Triandos' homers were his 17th and 18th of the season. The first one, over the centerfield fence in the second inning, gave the Orioles a lead they never relinquished. The second was hit over the left-field fence in the sixth.

Avila, who entered the game at the start of the fourth inning after Carrasquel was removed, hit his homer in the fifth. It was his ninth of the season.

The loss was Aguirre's fifth. Today's game was the last of the season between the two clubs, with the Indians holding a 17-5 edge. The paid attendance was 15,751.

Detroit Chalks Up 7th Straight, 7-2

DETROIT, Sept. 13 (AP) — Ray Boone and Jack Phillips, with seven hits between them, sparked a 15-hit attack that carried the Detroit Tigers to their seventh straight victory, 7-2, over Washington today.

Right-hander Paul Foytack won his 13th game, restricting the Nats to five safeties as the Tigers completed a sweep of the three game series.

Boone collected a triple and three singles and Phillips added a single, double and triple and drove in a pair of runs.

Southpaw Chuck Stobbs, who had won 15 games, was lifted after six innings and absorbed his 12th setback. Hal Griggs and Bob Chakales finished up for the Senators.

Detroit collected single runs in the second, third, seventh and eighth innings and scored three times in the sixth. A pair of singles and doubles by Phillips and catcher Red Wilson highlighted the sixth inning uprising.

Stobbs singled home Washington's first run in the third inning after Lyle Luttrell's triple. Pete Runnels tripled behind a walk in the eighth for Washington's other run.

Mantle Clouts Homer No. 48, Yanks Win, 3-2

Ford Notches 18th Over Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 13 (AP) — Whitey Ford stubbornly fought off the Kansas City Athletics in the late innings today to win his 18th victory for the New York Yankees, 3-2, as Mickey Mantle hit home run No. 48—his first since August 31.

Mickey also hit a double in the first inning behind Enos Slaughter's single and rode home on Yogi Berra's single that got the New Yorkers away to a 2-0 lead off loser Tom Gorman. The homer came in his next time at bat in the third and ended the Yankee scoring. Bobby Shantz and Jack Crimian handcuffed the New York power hitters the rest of the way.

Ford, who equalled his best one-season victory total which hit 18 in 1953 and 1955, got the first 11 Athletics before Lou Skizas doubled in the fourth.

Hits by Vic Power and Hec Lopez, plus a base on balls to Skizas cost Ford a run in the sixth and Suitcase Simpson hit into a run-scoring double play. Another base on balls to Eddie Robinson and Mike Baxes' double off the left field fence brought the A's other run in the seventh.

The Yankee decision today put them only 2 1/2 games away from clinching the pennant as Baltimore defeated the second place Cleveland Indians. Any combination of five New York victories or Cleveland defeats will give the flag to the Yanks.

Today's game, attended by a crowd of 10,904, was the last of the season between the two clubs, with the Yankees piling up an 18-4 advantage.

Great Weekend For Contests

Television is a great medium for contests of any sort and last weekend we were up to our eyeballs in them. Contests, there were, for all tastes. In Atlantic City there were girls. In Ebbets Field there were baseball players. At Forest Hills there were tennis players. In Louisville there were football players. All over the spectrum there were politicians running for office. And on the "Big 4000 Challenge" there were Bible experts. All competing. About the only contest you couldn't witness on TV last weekend was a good game of horseshoes and maybe there was one of those somewhere that I missed.

In Atlantic City—taking things up in the order of their importance—was that national institution known as the Miss America Pageant.

ant, and as usual, ABC-TV telecast the finals. This year, as ABC said, the emphasis was to be on more girls and less talk. This was a brilliant decision all right but, regrettably, talk could not be eliminated entirely and the talk in these dromedarys is something less than brilliant.

For instance, all the finalists were asked whom they admired most in the world outside their own family. One girl listed her aunt, who is hardly outside her family; another her sponsor, and still another her preacher—all of them perhaps laudable choices but indicative of a rather narrow range of interest. A girl who aspires to be Miss America ought to be thinking in terms of Winston Churchill or somebody like that. With a renowned figure—Churchill or Eisenhower or Elvis Presley—we'd get some insight into the girl's character and, if a girl is to represent my country all year long, I think I've the right to know about such things.

Of course, there's a body of opinion which is growing stronger every year that Miss America contestants should be mute, like baseball players. A baseball player just plays baseball, and when he does get into a hassle with an umpire, we don't—mercifully—hear it. I don't know that I'd go along with this theory. Talking is part of being a girl—along with the other things. They ought to talk all right, but perhaps they ought to practice a little more before being allowed on a national network.

As usual, there were little displays of talent from the girls. The winner, Marion Ann McKnight, imitated Marilyn Monroe, which is getting to be a standard act, like the Jewel Song in "Faust" and, since even so knowledgeable a witness as Joe DiMaggio put his seal of approval on it, I'm not going to hazard an opinion about it. But the general standard of talent was pretty low. Miss McKnight, in fact, committed a shocking breach of procedure when she failed to burst into tears after she won. She seemed to be trying awfully hard, but she couldn't make it. The girl should have been disqualified right there. The ability to talk is optional, but tears are traditional.

NBC, as usual, brought the semifinals and finals of the National Tennis Championship at Forest Hills. And on Sunday, tennis fans got as beautiful a display of competitive tennis as they could wish when little Ken Rosewall beat his fellow Australian Lew Hoad in a major championship.

Coverage of tennis by television has certainly vastly improved. Having attended the matches at Forest Hills and having watched on TV, I feel strongly that you still get only about 50 per cent of the subtleties of tennis on the set at home—but that is about as much as TV will ever master. And the comments and play-by-play from Jack Kramer and Bud Palmer is tops. No matter how much you know about tennis you are likely to learn a few things listening.

Since television arrived, athletes have been deplorably audible. They're all over the place, discovering how Viceroy's taste and shaving with Gillette's and, well, talking. But not Ken Rosewall. Besides being one of my favorite tennis players, he did a lot toward restoring the old-time muteness of athletes. When asked after the match how he felt about it, he had absolutely nothing to say.

Coren On Bridge

Neither vulnerable. North deals. His remaining heart. This was a fatal error. Declarer was able to give up a diamond to West and had time to cash his second diamond trick to fulfill the contract.

The one card West should have held out for dear life, was the lowly heart. If declarer had both high diamonds, he had nine tricks in full sight.

On a similar line of reasoning, West should have no fear of unguarding the spade suit for if South has both the king and queen of spades he has nine tricks which are immediately cashable. If the contract is to be beaten, East must have the king of diamonds and also a spade stopper, so West should play to beat the hand by holding on to his deuce of hearts.

(Copyright 1956: The Chicago Tribune)

Opening lead: Eight of hearts.

The panic so frequently induced by having to discard on a long suit seems to induce a breakdown of normal mental processes. Stricken with fear of unguarding certain suits, a player will sometimes make discards that would never occur to him in a relaxed state. Surely the best defense against the running of a long suit by declarer is to maintain one's morale. If declarer has the necessary cards, resign gracefully and accept the inevitable. Don't worry about something you are helpless to prevent. But remember he may not have those cards, so that you should plan your defense on that basis.

Today's bidding followed more or less normal lines, though South's jump to two no trump with only a single heart stopper is open to question. However, it is difficult to select a more satisfactory bid. West dutifully led the eight of hearts and East's 10 held the trick. The king of hearts drove out declarer's ace and then started the parade of clubs. East first let go the two of spades and then the 2 and 8 of diamonds. West discarded a first diamond, then a spade, and then, fearing to unprotect the diamonds or the spades, he let go

Civil Defense Alert Termed Success Here

Fire Companies Rush To Mock Disaster

Not a creature was stirring on Baltimore Street during yesterday's Civil Defense alert.

Adequate manning of the business section by Civil Defense wardens resulted in a model alert, according to Arthur B. Gibson, Cumberland CD coordinator.

Results elsewhere in Allegany County were generally "pretty good" and excellent where enforcement was adequate, according to William G. Barger, county CD director.

The timing for a successful alert here could not have been better.

The take cover signal began wailing at 2 p. m., post time for the opening of the Cumberland Races. The first race at Fairgo, however, was set back 15 minutes so the race and the alert would not coincide.

Wardens On Duty

CD officials on Baltimore Street termed the practice alert completely successful and said "not a finger moved" during the five-minute "take cover" interval.

The only difficulty was with a few people who reported they did not know what to do when the sirens sounded.

City police were on hand but did not have to take an active part in the Civil Defense drill.

Gibson said much of the success was due to wardens from the staffs of banks and business houses.

The alert was set off by fire companies in most communities as the Fire Radio Net warned of the practice alert, Barger said.

The exercise, Barger said, points to the need for more Civil Defense wardens.

The action was filmed here for the Civil Defense film which is being prepared by the Allegany County Civil Defense organization.

Make Fire Run

Early last night fire companies in this area were called out on a Civil Defense run.

The call was sent out at 6:30 p. m. and the scene for the mock disaster was the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory near Pinto.

Alvey Poole, assistant fire chief for the city fire department, said the time elapsed for the companies to answer the call was 36 minutes.

Fire companies from Short Gap, Cresaptown, Bowling Green, Ridgeley, LaVale, Baltimore Pike and Cumberland took part in the alert.

Poole said radios were in use in most of the trucks and all movements and activities were coordinated.

Girl Scouts Begin Area Council Study

A meeting of a special committee studying a plan to organize all Girl Scout troops of this immediate area into the national organization's council coverage plan was held last night at the Girl Scout House.

Miss Helen Sellers, national field staff worker from Girl Scout Headquarters in Washington, attended and outlined some of the phases of council coverage.

Represented on the study committee are Cumberland, Frostburg, Swanston, Grantsville, Keyser, Luke, Piedmont, Westernport and Oakland.

The group reviewed the plan of work which includes studies of needed services for girls now in scouting as well as potential scout members.

Specifically, the plan calls for (1) program, (2) training, and (3) training. Nationally, the organization places emphasis on training adults for leadership, providing basic and advanced training as well as training for board and council members.

Under programming, the group will study the quality of the program in each community and area affected, and also will review the community resources available to the program. Democratic form of government at the troop level, using the patrol system, also is emphasized.

Under camping, the group will study the national program of three types of recommended camping — established camps, day camps and troop camps.

Braddock Tank Sandblasting, Painting Slated

J. E. Dennison Bids $4,500 For Contract

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards announced yesterday he will recommend Monday that the Mayor and Council award the contract for cleaning, sandblasting and painting the Braddock Road water tank to the J. E. Dennison firm here.

The local painting contractor recently submitted a bid of $4,500 for sandblasting and painting the 100,000-gallon water tank.

Dennison was the only bidder on the contract. Rehabilitation of the tank was started by the Dixie Tank and Bridge Company, which did preliminary work costing $516.67. To be added to the cost of the job will be materials for three coats of paint costing $563.

When the job is finished this fall, along with repairs to the Fort Hill reservoir, it will mark the completion of major repairs to water storage facilities in the city.

Rehabilitation and painting of the 500,000-gallon Fort Hill water tank was completed this spring, at a cost of $6,245, and scaling, cleaning, welding and painting of the Ridgedale tank followed at a cost of $6,127.

Commissioner Edwards said city crews plan to complete repairs to the Fort Hill reservoir this fall. The work will include caiking the joints of the top courses of concrete, which are subject to heaving during spring thaws.

Deadline Near For Voters' Certificates

Removal Papers Needed By Sept. 17

Voters who have just moved here from somewhere else in Maryland where they were properly registered, and those from here who may have recently moved away, have only until next Monday, September 17, to apply for their removal certificates so they can be properly registered at their new place of residence.

Gilbert P. Bohn, chairman of the non-partisan "Get Out The Vote" committee of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, issued a reminder that those who recently moved into Allegany County after having resided in the Sixth Congressional District at least six months may vote in this county November 6 by immediately obtaining a removal certificate from the Board of Election Supervisors of the county where they formerly lived.

Similarly, those who recently moved into another county in the Sixth District from Allegany County after having resided in this county at least six months and in the State of Maryland one year may vote in their new county by getting a removal certificate from the Board of Election Supervisors' office in the Court House basement.

In either case, September 17—50 days before the election—is the deadline for obtaining the removal certificate.

All persons who will have reached the age of 21 and will have lived in the State of Maryland one year and in the Sixth Congressional District six months before November 6 may register now so they can vote. The registration deadline is Saturday, October 6.

Persons who have not voted in a state or county election in the last five years must re-register because their names have been removed for failure to vote.

Voters may register between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and 9 a. m. until noon Saturday at the Board of Election Supervisors' office in the Court House basement. Beginning September 19, deputy registrars will tour various communities around the county for registration.

Teacher Moved To Midland From Oldtown

Mrs. Gladys Wilson Broadwater, 114 Grant Street, Frostburg, will join the faculty of Midland Elementary School today to relieve a condition there. Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster announced yesterday.

Webster explained that Mrs. Broadwater has been a teacher at the Oldtown Elementary School the past four years but a decrease of 30 pupils in the enrollment there has reduced the needs by one teacher.

However, Midland has a heavier enrollment which justifies the addition of another teacher there. Webster arranged for the transfer of Mrs. Broadwater after conferring with the two elementary supervisors involved, Miss Mildred Willson and Miss Elizabeth Flake.

Mrs. Broadwater, a graduate of Frostburg State Teachers College, taught six years in Garrett County at the beginning of her career.

Webster also disclosed that two additional classrooms are being partitioned off part of the cafeteria at West Side Elementary School. Two teachers who previously did not have a regular classroom there will be assigned to the new quarters.

The Tourist and Convention committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce is coordinating the work of local organizations aiding in the tour sponsored by the Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church, Somerset, to aid in its building program.

The transportation fans, led by William Strader, Somerset, will arrive here by B & O train about 1 p. m. and will be split into two groups.

The first group will be taken to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops here and will inspect steam locomotive facilities and take pictures of the outmoded but glamorous steam engines.

Will Visit Monuments

At the same time, the second group will be taken on an escorted tour of the chief historical monuments of the Queen City.

The Chamber of Commerce has prepared a map, showing the principal points of historical interest.

The tour will begin at the historic Queen City Station and the first stop will be the old Barnum House on Baltimore Street.

From there, they will walk to Riverside Park to visit George Washington's cabin. They will be greeted by Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, member of the City Park Board, and a group of special hostesses.

A visit to the tunnels of old Fort Cumberland will follow. Guides will be provided by Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

From there, the railroad fans will go to the Allegany County Historical Society, where members will be available in each room to greet the guests.

Following will be a brief service at First Presbyterian Church, conducted by Rev. Maurice D. Robertson, pastor. Members of the Men's Club will show the guests the results of the recent building program.

Kelly Head Praises Fire Dept. Aid

The Cumberland Fire Department's cooperation with and assistance to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company during recent plant protection system changes was acknowledged by a letter from Edmund S. Burke, president of the tire concern.

Burke's letter to Chief Virgil A. Parker said in part:

"Recently our plant fire protection systems were affected by the necessity of relocating some fire mains and hydrants. This was scheduled to be completed in 10 days, but actually took nearly six weeks because of adverse weather conditions.

"We were able to maintain a reasonable degree of protection in areas involved through the use of auxiliary hose lines in lieu of the fire mains and hydrants. Some of these hose lines were through areas where there were concentrations of high-value materials which were vulnerable to water damage in event of leakage or rupture of these hose lines.

"Your cooperation in loaning us some 400 feet of municipal type fire hose enabled us to maintain the auxiliary hose lines in these high-value areas during the six-week period without a single leakage incident. Moreover, your cooperation enabled us to maintain a greater degree of fire protection . . ."

History Society Seeks U.S. Plan For Route 40

Urges Inclusion Of Entire Length

At the best attended meeting since its reorganization three years ago, the Allegany County Historical Society opened its 1956-57 season last night at History House, 218 Washington street, by unanimously endorsing inclusion of the entire length of U. S. 40 in Maryland as part of the Federal-Aid Interstate Highway System.

The passage of the resolution followed a talk by J. William Hunt on the "unjustifiable" omission of the Hancock-Cumberland-Keyser Ridge section from the Interstate plans for coast-to-coast roads.

James Alfred Alvrett revealed plans to entertain and aid several hundred residents of Somerset, Pa. when they come to Cumberland Sunday, September 23, on the last steam train to be run over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in this area.

Miss Ruth A. Clauson, president, reported on ad interim projects and accomplishments since the June meeting, including several acquisitions of historical objects.

Prisoner Fails To Sell Judge On Legal Theory

Larry G. Patton was unable to convince Chief Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court of his theory of law. The jurist refused his petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Patton, a 20-year-old youth, pleaded guilty April 16 before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris to carnal knowledge of a 15-year-old girl and was sentenced to 18 months in the Maryland House of Correction.

"This petition for a writ of habeas corpus seems to be based on his theory that, because he later married the girl with the consent of her parents, that this sentence must now be set aside," Judge Henderson wrote in his opinion. "I know of no law to that effect," he concluded.

Pumping Station Slab Is Poured

The contractor for the sewage treatment plant concentrated last week on getting ready to pour the bottom slab of the Evitts Creek pumping station, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

The slab for the pumping unit, the last major part of the plant to get under way, was poured early this week.

Considerable work also was accomplished, he said, toward laying the force main which will connect the station at Evitts Creek with the main sewage pumping station at the $2,000,000 plant on Offutt Street extended.

Man Collapses At Jockey Club

Francis M. Hazey of 1103 Third Street, Altoona, was brought to the hospital by ambulance, and attendants last night said the cause of his illness had not been determined.

Hazey had been dining at the Jockey Club during the Cumberland Fair Association's race meet at Fairgo yesterday. He collapsed at his table and was carried from the club on a stretcher.

Advance Gifts Workers Open Chest Crusade

Second Section Will Begin Work Tuesday

Advance Gifts workers were urged last night by Edmund S. Burke, chairman, to make their part in the Community Chest drive a "personal crusade."

And leaders, captains and workers attending the kickoff dinner for the Advance Gifts division of the community giving campaign made a good start.

Every Chest worker who attended the dinner meeting held at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club made his personal pledge or contribution.

Lewis J. Ort, general campaign chairman, said 40 cards averaging over $300 per card were signed at the meeting to set a new level of giving for an Advance Gifts group.

Has Big Goal

The goal of the Cumberland United Community Fund, Burke said, is $137,286.68 and if the campaign is to succeed this year, at least $73,000, or 53 per cent of the goal must come from the larger potential givers.

The 1956-57 campaign, he told the Chest workers, will be won or lost before the general solicitation gets under way on October 9.

Ort reported that some of the gifts which were made at the first section of the Advance Gifts kickoff event were increased as much as 800 per cent over gifts made in previous years.

The second section of the division will hold its kickoff meeting next Tuesday at noon in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

This meeting will also be the first meeting for the division.

Burke termed the current Advance Gifts staff the finest organization ever to tackle a Chest drive in Cumberland.

Hits Token Giving

As the advance guard began its work, Ort said that certain segments of the professional people of the community are "dragging their feet."

He said that in spite of the fact that over half of the funds must come from 325 individuals and companies that in past years elements of the professional men, particularly the medical profession, have been making token contributions.

They have adopted the "let the other guy do it" attitude, Ort said, while the burden of the volunteer effort in the drive to keep nine community service organizations is falling on the loyal few.

He was emphatic in saying that the very reason the Community Chest drive failed last year was because of the small contributions made by a segment of the Advance Gifts donors.

Lighting Plan Discussion Set

Plans for lighting the Cumberland Throughway will be discussed at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council. City Hall sources reported yesterday.

Officials said the city must tell the Maryland State Roads Commission soon whether it wishes the lighting plan to be designed by Green Associates, Inc., Baltimore, or whether it will make its own arrangements.

The decision may be made on the basis of cost.

Cumberland will have to pay the cost of design if it asks the SRC to have the Baltimore firm to plan lighting facilities along with the rest of the throughway design.

No extra charge is expected if the city asks the Potomac Edison Company, which will furnish lighting service on a rental basis, to go ahead and plan the lighting system.

Lack Of Pipe Halts Filter Plant Work

Work on the modernization of the city's filtration plant at Lake Gordon has been halted this week for lack of pipe.

City officials said the sub-contractor who is installing the piping has been promised delivery the last week of this month.

The pipe is needed to connect the contact basins, being built by the Hazelwood Construction Company, with the filter plant.

Virtually all of the machinery has been placed in the two big flocculation and mixing basins. Work on them will resume when the pipe work gets under way again.
